REQUEST OF TAFT WAS DISREGARDED

Senate Committee Amended British and French Arbitration Treaties.

REFER TO BRYCE'S ATTACK

Long Before the Ambassador Ever Thought of Coming to This Country on Diplomatic Mission—Before the Senate.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Disregarding a telegraphed request from President Taft for a contrary course, the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations today agreed upon an amendment to the British and French arbitration treaties, eliminating the provision conferring special powers on the proposed joint high commission. In this form the treaties were reported to the Senate and the President's wishes that action be postponed until next December were set at naught.

The Senate almost immediately gave two hours to consideration of the treaties during which the danger of old world dominance in any joint high commission was discused. Incidentally, there was considerable talk about a criticism upon the Senate contained in "The American Commonwealth," written by Ambassador Bryce long before he ever thought of coming to this country on a diplomatic mission. In that work Mr. Bryce attacked the Senate upon the ground that it kept diplomatic troubles alive so long as there was any political advantage to be gained by so doing.

No conclusions were reached by the Senate, and the general opinion among Senators seemed to be that the treaties would receive very little if any further consideration at this session of Congress.

The telegram from President Taft was sent from Beverly and will be received by Chairman Cullom, prior to the session of the Foreign Relations Committee. It was addressed to the committee and requested that if the treaties were to be amended that action should be postponed until December. Before leaving Washington President Taft had made strong representations to individual members of the committee urging as vitally important the retention of the provision giving to the joint high commission the right to determine disputed questions without reference to the Senate.

Both President Taft and Secretary of State Knox have taken the position that the paragraph, which the Committee on Foreign Relations purposes to amend is necessary to the proper operation of the agreement. The President gave Senators to understand that he would not yield without a severe struggle, and his friends express doubt whether he would not prefer the failure of the treaties rather than ratification with the paragraph eliminated.

There is considerable mystery about the manner in which the views of Ambassador Bryce, as expressed in his book, were brought into the present controversy. Each member of the Foreign Relations Committee received in today's mail a neatly printed two-page pamphlet quoting an extract from "The American Commonwealth," in which the opinion was expressed that a minority in the Senate may control the action of that body adversely to the will of the majority in "a narrow, sectional, electioneering spirit". In this connection was a reference to the fact that under the Constitution a two thirds majority of the Senate is necessary to the ratification of treaties with foreign powers.

Both in committee and in the Senate the characterization of the Senate in Mr. Bryce's work was referred to as indicating a hostile disposition on the part of the ambassador towards the Senate's exercise of its functions of ratification.

To meet the desire for more information Senator Bourne entered a motion, which the Senate adopted, directing the Committee on Foreign Relations to prepare a written report giving the fullest possible information.

Both in committee and in the Senate fear was expressed that the ratification of the treaties would have the effect of throwing open the doors of arbitration to all the questions involved in dealing with such oriental nations as China and Japan, and involving immigration and admission to the public schools. Senator Borah and other Western Senators pointed out to the Foreign Relations Committee this danger. On this account, as well as for other reasons, Mr. Borah moved the cancellation of the paragraph conferring extra privileges on the joint high commision.

All the Senators conceded that none of these questions could be raised under the compacts with France and Great Britain, but taking these as mere forerunners of like treaties with all the civilized powers, they pointed out the strong probability of bringing Japan and China within the circle. In this connection reference was made to the President's recent suggestion to Admiral Togo that Japan prepare to join in a compact similar to those already entered into.

TRIAL OF BEATTIE IN RICHMOND SOON

Alleged Murderer of Young Wife Will be Indicted Tomorrow.

INTENSE INTEREST IN CASE

Probable That Both Sides Will Not be Ready for Several Days—The Witnesses for the Prosecution.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 12.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., of South Richmond, who stands accused by a coroner's jury of having murdered his young wife on the Midlothian turnpike of Chesterfield county on the night of July 18th, last, will be indicted Monday.

Paul Beattie, the defendant's first cousin, who testified before the coroner that he purchased and delivered to Henry the gun and shells with which the killing was done; and Beulah Binford, the pretty Richmond girl, of whom the defendant was enamored, will be the star witnesses for the prosecution. They will be removed from the Henrico county jail in Richmond on Monday and taken to the jail at Chesterfield.

Beattie, however, will be kept in jail here until the trial begins. His defense is that his bride was shot by a rough looking man in the road, irritated at the presence of Beattie's automobile.

There is great interest in the case throughout Chesterfield county and in Richmond, and the diminutive and historic court house at Chesterfield will be packed with spectators during the proceedings. The indictment of Beattie will be purely perfunctory, and just when the trial will begin is problematical. It is not probable, however, that both sides will be ready for several days after the indictment is returned and those who have followed the case closely predict that a week at lenst will elapse after the indictment before the selection of a jury is begun.

History of Crime.

The history of the crime with which Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., has been charged by the coroner's jury, contains many features of unusual interest. The accused, who is now about 26 years of age, is the son of Henry Clay Beattie, Sr., a well-to-do business man of this city. Young Beattie received a fair education and, at an early age, began to indulge in a fast and reckless life. He had numerous affairs with girls, but only one had serious consequences. About four years ago he became intimate with Beulah Binford, a handsome, but morally corrupt girl, who at that time was not quite 14. The intimacy continued and two years ago a child was born to the girl. The young mother named the child Henry Clay Binford, but soon abandoned it to the care of some relatives. Later the child was adopted by Mrs. Mary Trout, of Richmond, but it proved sickly and died in July of last year. To hush up matters young Beattie induced Beulah Binford to Raleigh, N. C., where she promised to remain, so as not to interfere with Beattie's marriage plans.

TALK OF CHOLERA CASES.

Physicians Tstify as to Efficiency of Health Officer Doty.

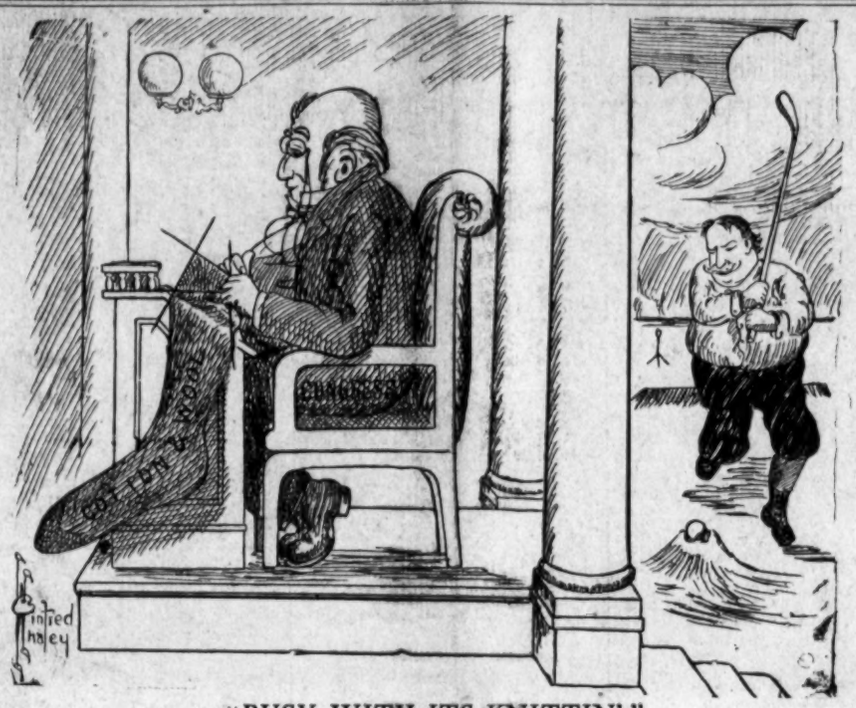
New York, Aug. 12.—Two distinguished physicians, who testified at the State quarantine investigation today to their belief in the efficiency of Health Officer Doty, incidentally gave some interesting opinions regarding cholera.

Dr. William H. Polk, dean of the Cornell Medical College, characterized fumigation as a useless sop to public superstition. Dr. Simon Flexner, head of the Rockefeller Institute of Research, said he thought Dr. Doty's work at quarantine had set a new standard for the whole world. The danger from cholera did not come from developed cases that could be identified, he said, but from the cholera "carrier", whose identity could be discovered only through careful bacteriological examination.

Dr. Polk's opinion was that strict quarantine of the attendants of cholera patients was not necessary. As long as the attendants washed their hands and changed their clothes he believed they should be permitted to go home. The cholera germ, he said, could be received only through the mouth.

RATE MATTER DECIDED

Washington, Aug. 12.—Permission was given to the Atlantic Coast Line, the Norfolk and Western and the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway by the Inter-State Commerce Commission today to meet the competition of the Southern Railway in freight rates from and to points on the Winston-Salem road. The Commission granted the application of the lines named to exact a lower charge for a longer, than for a shorter haul in the same direction. It affects the rates from points in Eastern North Carolina to all other States and territories and the Dominion of Canada.



"BUSY WITH ITS KNITTIN'"

FUNERAL OF GENERAL GORDON

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 12.—Clad in a uniform of Confederate gray, the body of General George W. Gordon, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans and members of Congress from the 10th Tennessee District, was laid to rest in Elmwood cemetery this afternoon. General Gordon died in this city Wednesday after an extended illness.

Veterans of the Confederate and Union armies and representatives of the Nation and State, joined in paying tribute to the memory of the dead. Former foes marched side by side in the military procession that formed a conspicuous part of a funeral cortege more than a mile in length.

The procession passed from the Court House, where the body has rested at the headquarters of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans since Tuesday, to the Second Presbterian Church, where a brief service was conducted by the Rev. R. LinCave, of Nashville, chaplain general of the Confederate Veterans' organization. The general procession ended at the church, the military guard of honor, pall-bearers and General Gordon's official staff accompanying the body to the cemetery.

The active pall-bearers were all close friends of General Gordon residing in the city. They were named by him several months ago.

The delegation from Congress included Representatives Pridgett, Houston, Garrett, Hull, Byrns, Austin and Sells, of Tennessee; Richardson, of Alabama; Lamb and Slemp, of Virginia; Cravens, of Arkansas; Thistlewood, of Illinois; Tilson, Connecticut; Kahn, California; Bradley, New York, and Anthony, Kansas.

AUTHOR'S SON IN TOILS.

Brought German Girl to America, and Then Left Her in Lurch.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 12.—As a result of the efforts of the government officials of Germany and the United States, and the Baltimore and Cleveland conferences of Baptist ministers, A. Ciehl, aged 23, son of Dr. Otto Ciehl, noted Baptist minister and author, of Germany, was bound over to the grand jury here today on the charges preferred by Miss Monta Zurmaski, 22 years old.

The couple eloped from Germany, according to the story she told the German consul at Baltimore, and United States Commissioner Walther, three months ago, and located in Baltimore, where he refused to marry her. Ciehl then came to Cleveland.

Baltimore Baptist conference officials interested the Cleveland conference, and Ciehl's arrest followed.

Ciehl says he is willing to marry, but that her love has turned to hate.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Young Man Crushed at Flat Rock—Carrier Service—Tourists.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Hendersonville, N. C., Aug. 12.—While attempting to board a passing freight train at Flat Rock, Jerry King was instantly killed. Almost the entire train passed over his body which was horribly mangled. He was the son of a prominent farmer, 25 years old and unmarried.

Postoffice Inspector J. W. Bulla is here on official business in connection with granting Hendersonville free city mail delivery. The carriers will go on about October 1st, after the necessary civil service examinations have been held.

The Retail Merchants' Association have several men canvassing the city in an effort to find out just how many more visitors may possibly be accommodated. There are twice as many tourists here now as last year while five trains of excursionists will arrive on one day next week.

SEASON'S FIRST HURRICANE

Struck the Gulf Coast and Swept Over City of Pensacola Yesterday—Fears Felt for Steamer Tarpon.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 12.—The first West Indian hurricane of the present season to strike the gulf coast swept over this city and vicinity late yesterday and continued until early today.

Although the wind reached a velocity of 90 miles an hour and there was a heavy downpour of rain, Pensacola suffered comparatively little, timber interests and small vessels being the hardest hit. For a time today Pensacola was cut off from the outer world by the loss of telegraph wires. Communication was restored late in the day, however.

Fears are felt for the little steamer Tarpon, which was due to arrive at 7 o'clock this morning from Panama City, Fla., with a cargo of freight and a small number of passengers. Nothing has been heard from her since she left Panama City.

ELOPERS AT SPRINGFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty Appear Very Happy—No Interference.

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 12.—A honey-moon of automobile rides, sight-seeing and dancing at nearby pleasure parks, is being passed in this city by Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Paul Geraghty, who eloped from Newport last Wednesday The romance of the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Tuck French, of Tuxedo and Newport, and the Newport chauffeur has attracted much attention from the residents of this city and already the young couple have made many friends.

Neither of the young people appear to be worrying about the future. Geraghty consulted lawyers here this afternoon and was told that there was no danger of the French family charging him with abduction.

No definite plans for the future have been formulated by Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty. They said tonight that they expect to remain at the home of Geraghty's cousin, Mrs. Joseph Harris, for about two weeks, and then they may return to Newport and engage a cottage.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 12.—John S. Geraghty, father of the eloping bridegroom, John Geraghty, applied to the police today for a permit to carry a revolver, saying he is hounded by newspaper men seeking interviews, morning, night and noon He declared he was in danger of bodily injury and that his wife was prostrated.

POPE PIUS MAY HAVE CHANCE

Physicians Say Patient is Steadily Improving—Intense Pain Has Decreased—Recovery Still Uncertain.

Rome, Aug. 12.—The feeling of extreme pessimism that prevailed with the masses until Thursday concerning the health of Pope Pius has now given way to one of great optimism.

Up to Thursday, when a change for the worse was noticed, there were those who believed the end was approaching. Today the same people are responsible for reports in circulation that the pope is almost well—that he is walking about his room and even working. These reports are absurd. The truth is, that while the improvement has been steady, it also has been slow and the temperature of the patient still remains slightly above normal. The violence of pains in the gouty leg has decreased, but is still troublesome. Above all the weakness of the pontiff and the depression that has fallen upon him, are far from having been overcome and in the opinion of the physicians remain the greatest drawback to his ultimate recovery.

If all goes well, the doctors say, and especially if the weather remains cool, two weeks must elapse before the pontiff enters into the period of convalescence. If there should be a return of the excessive heat serious fears are entertained for a relapse.

AGREE ON PUBLICITY BILL.

Confrerees Failed to Settle on Direct Election Measure.

Washington, Aug. 12.—A complete agreement on the pre-election campaign publicity bill and a failure to agree upon a constitutional amendment for the direct election of senators, marked the conclusion today of the conferences between the House and Senate over these two important measures.

The conference report on the publicity bill will be presented to both Houses of Congress Monday. The Senate amendment limiting to an average of 10 cents per voter, the amount that any candidate may spend in his campaign, has been dropped out of the bill. The chief reason for its elimination is said to be the decision that it would give too much apparent authority for the use of money in campaigns.

As a result of the failure of the conference on the direct election of senators amendment there will be no action on that subject until December. This was the statement today of members of the House conference. The House has refused to accept the Bristow amendment extending Federal control over State elections. Their objection to the amendment is emphasized by the fact that a similar provision was decisively beaten in the House and the Bristow amendment was carried in the Senate by a majority of but one vote, the Vice President's.

KIDNAPPING CHARGED

A Former Colorado Police Chief Held in New York.

New York, Aug. 12. — Carl W. Thompson, formerly chief of police in Leadville, Colo., but more recently of Panama, was arrested here today at the telegraphic request of Sheriff Esser, of Portland, Colo. According to the telegram Thompson is charged by his wife, who divorced him, with kidnapping their five-year-old child, Helen. The little girl was with Thompson when he was arrested and urged him not to worry but to "come and get me again if they take you away."

Thompson asserts that he took the child because his lawyer advised him that there was nothing in the divorce papers which prevented him from so doing.

HARVESTER TRUST ANSWERS CHARGES

Denies That Corporation is Combination in Restraint of Trade.

HAS NOT CLOSED PLANTS

Nor Has It Ceased to Supply Repairs on Old Patents of Machinery—Reply to Government Charges—Features.

Washington, Aug. 12.—That the arguments and conclusions of the so called Townsend report are based upon clearly erroneous statements of well known facts is the opening assertion in a reply by Edgard Bancroft, counsel for the International Harvester Company, filed today with the House Steel Trust investigating committee in answer to charges made by Burnette D. Townsend, special agent for the Department of Justice in 1908. The Townsend report was filed with the committee a short time ago.

"Nearly every important statement of fact relating to the purpose of the investigation," the reply continues, "is grossly inaccurate or untrue. The general inaccuracy of the report shown by its misstatements even of the names of the president and chairman of the board of the International Harvester Company and the names of the voting trustees, although they were all widely known and a matter of public record for four years prior to the making of the report.

"The fundamental charge of a combination to create a monopoly is based by the report on the charge that the knotter in the self-binder is protected by patents and that the International owns the patents on all the best types of knotters. The trust is that there is no patent whatever on the essential part of any type of knotter and there has not been any such patents in force since 1896, when the Appleby patent expired.

"This fact not only appears on the records of the patent office, but is known to every manufacturer of self-binders and to every principal dealing in them. Neither are there any existing patents upon any essential part of the grain building machinery. The many basic patents had all expired in 1896 and there have been no substantial patents since 1890—20 years ago—while the life of a patent, as is well known, is only 17 years."

The statement of the Townsend report that of the nine different type of grain binders, purchased by the International, all but three have been abandoned and that repairs are not furnished for any others is branded by Attorney Bancroft as "absolutely false." He further says that "repairs for every type then (at the time of the report) were and have ever since been furnished by the International when and wherever called for."

"The report's charge of a 'binder twine trust' is without any foundation whatsoever," declared the reply, which also stated that the International has had the greatest competition of many twine manufacturers as well as seven State penitentiary twine mills.

In reply to the charge that competition has been largely suppressed, Mr. Bancroft cites the names of eight firms which he declares are all active competitors.

As to the charge that the International receives rebates from railroads and special considerations from the United States Steel Corporation, the reply declares that harvester companies "relation to the steel corporation is not different from its relations with the competitors of the steel corporation" and that during the last seven years it has bought from the steel corporation "10 per cent. of its total needs while it purchases 30 per cent. from competitors of the United States Steel Corporation, the rest of its needs having been supplied by the International's subsidiary corporation, the Wisconsin Steel Company."

As to the charge on increasing prices the International asserts that instead of increasing them, its influence has been to prevent increases.

On the subject of foreign prices, "the International denies that perenial falsehood that International implements are sold abroad cheaper than at home."

As to the charge that the International is a "trust," the reply says that it was not a merger of existing corporations, but a new one in which $20,000,000 was invested by persons not heretofore in the harvester business.

Finally, the International denies that any plants purchased by it were closed.

DAY OF PROGRESS ON TARIFF BILLS

Revision Legislation is Moving Swiftly Onward in Congress.

DISAGREE AS TO FREE LIST

Cotton Bills Was Also Discussed—Expected That President Will Veto the Wool Measure—The Features.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Tariff revision legislation moved swiftly onward in Congress today toward the expected presidential veto. The complete conference agreement on the wool bill was reported to the House with a view of final action in that body through adoption of the conference report on Monday.

The free list bill, quickly discussed in committee as a matter subsidiary to the wool measure, was disagreed to on its two chief amendments, the single House amendment adding lemons to the free list, and the Kern Senate amendment limiting free meat and cereal products to those from countries with which the United States has reciprocal trade arrangements. All of its other amendments were accepted. This disagreement will be reported to both Houses Monday with a view of another vote in the Senate on the Kern amendment and in the House on the lemon amendment.

The cotton bill was discussed without action in the Senate. Democratic leaders said today they believed adjournment of Congress would come within a week or ten days.

There was little argument in conference over the free list amendments. Chairman Underwood, of the House Conference Committee, declared the House could not accept the Kern amendments, which were injected into the bill after the original free list bill had been lost by a tie vote in the Senate. Senator Bailey said the Senate would not approve the free lemon amendment, though he himself favored it. On motion of Mr. Underwood, the conference committee agreed to the Senate amendments, putting binders, cement and all kinds of boots and shoes on the free list; and instructed that a disagreement on the other amendments be reported to the House and Senate Monday.

The result will be to force another vote in the Senate on the Kern amendments and in the House on the lemon amendment. Following such action, the bill will probably again go to conference and a final agreement on it is confidently predicted.

Over the objection of the Republicans the House today received the conference report on the wool tariff revision bill and ordered it printed, perparatory to a vote on Monday. Minority Leader Mann objected to the House receiving the report, making the point of order that the House having asked for the conference and the Senate having agreed to it, the Senate must act on the report of the conference first. Speaker Clark overruled the point and was sustained in that action by a party vote of 162 to 89.

The vote was preceded by a lengthy technical debate in which Democratic Leader Underwood and Representatives Henry, of Texas, and Fitzgerald, of New York, defended the action of the House conferees. Republican Leader Mann, ex-Speaker Cannon, and Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin, argued in favor of the point of order.

The fight in the House was largely a question of "who has the papers." Although they were in possession of the House, Minority Leader Mann insisted that the Senate, as the body "agreeing to the conference," should first act on the wool conference report. The House voted to accept the report, however, but to avoid a repetition of the performance on the free list bill, Representative Underwood, before the conclusion of the free list conference this afternoon smiled at his senatorial colleague across the table and said: "Now, you take these papers."

The wool bill conference report will be printed, and ready for adoption in the House Monday. It is expected that the bill will be ready for the signature or veto of the President by Tuesday

When the cotton bill was taken up in the Senate, Senator Cummins, of Iowa, presented his amendments for revision of the iron and steel schedules of the tariff law. He did not speak upon his amendments today, however

Notwithstanding the desire of the Democrats to secure action on the cotton bill at this session, it is believed that Congress will not hold together for that purpose after final action is taken on either or both of the other tariff bills. Definite action by the President and an attempt to pass a bill over his veto, will be followed, it is expected by an immediate demand for an adjournment, leaving the cotton bill still pending.

New York, Aug. 12.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $21,593,500 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $6,048,350 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

For the first time in the City League yesterday afternoon the Y. M. C. A. and the Boys' Brigade met, McEachern and Hines, respectively, doing the delivery stunt for the teams. 'Twas as pretty an exhibition as has been seen on the lot this season, both teams playing ball from the start. McEachern had a little the big end of the honors, allowing only three hits and striking out nine men, eight of them in the first four innings, while the Triangle boys succeeded in swatting it six times safely.

McEachern struck out the first four men to face him, but there was no scoring until the fifth inning, when Brittain, the second man up ambled and annexed second, scoring on Wessell's clean double over short, Trust running for Wessell. Trust stole third and McEachern hit another two-bagger through second scoring him, Houston running for McEachern. Houston stole second, but Bergen and Trust succumbed via the strike-out. In the last half the Brigade had a near-score, when Clarence Davis started with a double. Moore struck out, and Davis went to third on a passed ball, but Hines went out to first unassisted.

In the sixth Duls singled to center, Trust doing the sprinting; Jones sacrificed and when a wild throw was delivered to third, Duls' runner scored. Carraway doubled to left, but Houston struck out and Brittain was out when the third strike hit him.

There was another near score for the Brigade in the seventh when V. Montague received the first transportation off McEachern's delivery and stole second. Gore sacrificed him to third, but Lacy flied to catcher and Davis went out to first unassisted, while Montague was attempting to steal home.

There was no more scoring until the first half of the ninth, when the Associationites started things again. Houston was safe on an error of Clarence Davis on third and "Chic" Brittain advanced him to second on his infield out. He stole third and Wessel got a hit, Houston scoring a moment later when the ball was thrown to second to intercept Wessell's steal. Wessell went to third on McEachern's infield out and Bergen was safe when Davis made another fumble, Wessell scoring. Trust hit and was safe, Bergen going to third with assistance of a misplay by Ben Montgomery. Bergen scored on Gore's bad throw to third, Trust going to third, from where he was run down trying for home.

The Second Game.

The second session between the Coast Line and Light Infantry teams was one of those mixed up affairs in which it is hard to fix the praise or blame, whichever the respective teams deserve. Green did the twirling stunt for the A. C. L. and "came back," or at least won his game, which counts. He allowed seven hits, which is an unusually liberal allowance when he is in form, which means he must have been in the best trim yesterday, although he pulled out of the whole in one or two occasions when scores seemed inevitable. Schulken, for the Infantry, allowed nine safe bingles, which without the same number of misplays by his team-mates should not have resulted in so many scores, as they were pretty well scattered. "Skeet" Emerson was back in the game, and it is not throwing any undeserved boquets to say he generally figures in the winning of games for his team. He is not the most brilliant player in the world, perhaps, but he has the knack of somehow holding the men together when a guardian angel is needed, and again, he fights every inch of the way.

In the first inning Emerson got a single to short and went on to second when short and center both let the ball roll by undisturbed. Taylor hit to short and was safe, Emerson going to third. Taylor stole second and Emerson was nipped at the bag when Houston hit to short, Houston stealing second a moment later. Terry hit to short and was safe on an error, Taylor scoring, followed by Houston on throw to second to intercept Terry. Hines was out on first.

In the second the Coast Line kept up the fun, Wright starting with a single over second, going down to second when first baseman let throw from Schulken get by. Green was safe on an error of short, Wright going to third. Green stole second, and Bergen hit to short, Wright being nipped at the plate, Green's runner being safely ensconsed on third. Symmes flew to right, and while Emerson was up his runner scored from third on a passed ball. Emerson was safe on first when right fielder fell down (literally) stealing second, and scoring on another passed ball. Taylor went out to first unassisted.

In the third with two men down, Hines got first on an error of second and went to second on a wild throw to first. Wright hit to center, and when he let it go through his hands Hines scored. Wright went to third on wild throw to plate, Green going out short to first.

In the sixth inning the Infantry boys got together and proceeded to make a serious try for the game. Orrell hit to left fence for two bases, one man being down before him. Green flied to second and Wright scored on Bergen's single to left. Bergen stole second and scored on wild throw to intercept his steal of third. Symmes struck out.

In the last half of the eighth, Parker, second man up, was safe on an error of third and stole second, the Coast Line kicking for him to be called. Tom Taylor singled to center and Parker was called out at the plate on a close decision, Taylor stopping on second. Phil Taylor hit to infield and went to second when Green threw wild to first, Tom scoring, the run-getting ending for afternoon.

CAUGHT HIM AT GREENSBORO.

Fugitive Ex-Cashier of Gainesville, Ga., Bank was Arrested.

Greensboro, N. C., Aug. 12.—After a chase of a week, extending across three States, Deputy Sheriff W. A. Crow, of Gainesville, Ga., this afternoon, with the aid of the local police, arrested George W. Bishop, an ex-cashier of a Gainesville bank, who is charged with false pretense and who, it is alleged, secured sums ranging from $50,000 to $75,000 from Georgia people by fraudulent representations.

Although Deputy Crow was armed with requisition papers, the prisoner consented to return to Georgia without extradition, and in a few minutes after his arrest boarded a train bound for Georgia. Bishop says he has no fears of ill results when he is brought face to face with his accusers.

It is alleged that Bishop promoted a company to manufacture a drink, "U Like It," the formula for which he claims to have owned, and upon which he placed a value of $160,000. He claims that the funds received from stock sold was in part payment for the formula. It is claimed by the prosecutors that Bishop represented that these funds were intended to be used in promoting the company and manufacturing the drink. The assets on which he worked are said to have been less than $20.

Fighting Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpusoles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Cal., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c. at R. R. Bellamy.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Outfielder Schulte made two home runs in today's game against St. Louis, bringing his record up to seventeen for the season. The first one was probably the longest ever made on the local grounds, as it cleared an eight-foot sign board in deep right. The second one cleared the netting protecting the right field bleachers. St. Louis lost the game 1 to 9.

STRIKE COST $7,500,000.

Conditions in London Normal Again and Traffic Moving.

London, Aug. 12.—London is almost itself again today. The official announcement that the strike has been settled last night sufficed to release the flood of traffic which has been held up for two or three days, and supplies were rushed out to replenish the empty markets and stores.

It is estimated that the strike of the dockmen and carriers has cost the metropolis at least $7,500,000.

Carmen employed by two railroad companies claim to have private grievances and refused to return to work under the general settlement.

Washington, Aug. 12.—For the first time in twenty odd years the House today was four minutes late in convening. A SERIES OF ACCIDENTS

Marred Opening Day of Big Chicago Auto Meet.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—A series of accidents that put three aeroplanes out of business without injuring their drivers, together with a downcast sky, that threatened to develop into a downpour at any minute, did not serve to mar the success of the first day of the international aviation meet today. While no records either for height, speed or endurance were broken, the number of aviators participating and the total time spent in the air exceeded the anticipations even of the flyers.

Arthur B. Stone and his mechanic, in a Queen monoplane, suffered the most serious accident, their fall resembling that in which Moisant met his death. They had risen to a height of 45 feet when a sudden gust of wind struck the machine and when Stone attempted a sharp turn, it overturned. Both fell under the car, but fell clear of the engine and escaped without injury.

Almost immediately afterward Frank C. Coffyn, by an earthward swoop, struck the monoplane in which Rene Simon was riding, disabling Simon's car so that it could not be used.

Incomplete arrangements for handling the aviators and lack of preparation for events necessitated dowing away with the programme, and only a part of the listed events took place. Instead, the aviators started after an endurance and altitude mark, attracted by the $2 offered for each minute of sustained flight.

Earl L. Ovington was tae winner in the two chief events, that were started. In his monoplane he defeated Thomas Sopwith, in the twenty-mile monoplane race, making the 15 laps in wne minutes and 51 seconds. Sopwith ended the race in six seconds greater elapsed time.

Ovington also won the 14-mile race across water, the course being two trips from the judges' stand around a crib in the lake.

The judges were unable to announce the official results of today's events up to a late hour tonight.

Unofficial estimates gave both the altitude and endurance contests to W. G. Beatty.

JUMPER 80 FEET ON WAGER

Foolhardy Machinist Won Fve Dollars at Risk of Life.

Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—To demonstrate his nerve to a few friends and fellow-workmen, Harry Clark, about thirty years old, a machinist in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad shops on Forty-sixth street, jumped from the railroad bridge over the Schuykill River above Girard avenue, and thereby won $50. The leap from the bridge, a distance of about eighty feet, and into about twenty feet of water, was made in the dark, in order to avoid the interference of Fairmont Park guards and the railroad bridge watchman. Clark had been dared to make the attempt.

The jumper formerly lived in Harrisburg, his home being in Hagerstown, Md., and in the shops he had talked of his feat of jumping from bridges at Harrisburg into the Susquehanna river. His fellow-employes told him he could not make the leap into the Schuykill, and he declared he could. John Rhoda bet him $5 he could not, and when the talk went the rounds of the shop others offered to wager that Clark could not make the leap. He got $50 in bets altogether.

Between the passage of trains over the high bridge, about 8:15 last night, in the company of two friends, he went to the bridge. He selected a point about fifty feet from the west bank of the river, and, without five seconds of hesitancy, took the jump into the dark waters. He was dressed in overalls and a jumper, the clothing he wears in the shop. Feet first he went down, remaining under water but a few seconds. Then he was dragged into a boat by two others who accompanied him.

Washington, Aug. 12.—An amendment to the constitution providing that the President and Vice President be elected for terms of six years, instead of four, and not be eligible to succeed themselves, has been introduced by Representative Fields, of Kentucky. Mr. Fields also offered an amendment making the terms of representatives three instead of two years.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 12.—A boom of Congressman O. W. Underwood for President was formally launched here today at a conference of Birmingham citizens at which a large committee was appointed to take the matter in charge. It is expected to enlarge this committee until it covers the entire country.

THE FUNERAL OF FINANCIER.

Services Conducted by His Old Time Friend—Body to U. S.

Paris, Aug. 12.—The funeral of John W. Gates was held today at the Interdenominational church in the Rue de Berri.

The service was conducted by the Rev. James Lee, pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, South, assisted by Dr. Hyatt, pastor of the American church. In his discourse the latter said that Mr. Gates and he had played together as boys, but had never met in later life.

Some 200 American friends and acquaintances from all parts of the United States were present. Nearly all entered their names on the register in the vestibule of the church. Beautiful floral pieces filled the chancel.

The body will be taken to Cherbourg Tuesday and placed on board the Kaiser Wilhelm, which will sail on the following day for New York. Mrs. Gates and Charles G. Gates will accompany the body, going to Cherbourg in a special car attached to the boat train Wednesday.

STOCK MARKET DEMORALIZED.

Opening Prices Lower and Practically No Support Offering.

New York, Aug. 12.—Conditions apparently demoralizing again overtook the stock market today. Opening prices were substantially lower, with pronounced weakness in Union Pacific, which has been the central figure of the past fortnight's liquidation.

The declines spread throughout the list, being especially marked in the higher class stocks. It is assumed that other securities of lesser merit have not fallen because of their being fractionally unmarketable at this juncture.

There was no news to account for the continuance of the liquidation which, before the end of the first hour, extended to four points in Union Pacific, that stock selling at 170, later yielding some more.

The market, if surface conditions may be taken as a criterion, was entirely lacking in support, there apparently being no material change.

TRAIN RUNS INTO SWITCH.

Engineer Killed, Locomotive Demolished—No Passengers Injured.

Macon, Ga., Aug. 12.—When train No. 11, of the Central of Georgia Railroad, bound from Macon to Montgomery, ran into an open switch, one mile west of Americus, at 6 o'clock this morning, Engineer Edward F. Adams, of this city, was killed, the engine demolished, and the express and baggage cars derailed. The fireman jumped and was not hurt. None of the passengers were injured, though all were badly shocked. The train was going at 45 miles an hour and it was considered miraculous that the passenger coaches remained on the track.

Meridian, Miss., Aug. 12.—Mistaking his wife for a burglar, G. W. Watkins shot and probably fatally wounded her at an early hour this morning. Mrs. Watkins had gone in an adjoining room to close a window. Watkins hearing what he thought to be some one trying to get in the window, leaned over the side of his bed and fired the bullet passing through his wife's body.

Camp Perry, Aug. 12.—Over one thousand United States troops to act as markers and scorers and rifle teams from the infantry, cavalry, navy and marine corps and from the national guard of Mississippi, West Virginia, Alabama, Arizona, Texas, Kansas, Montana, Indiana, and Ohio, are tonight encamped on the Ohio river for the Fifth Camp Perry Tournament which begins Monday.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The Senate today passed a resolution authorizing President Taft to invite foreign nations to participate in the opening on January 2nd of the railway extension of the Florida Keys to Key West. The resolution, it is believed, will also be passed by the House.

POLITICAL UNREST IN SPAIN.

Despite Concession Made by Ministry Agitation Against Monarchy.

Madrid, Aug. 12.—Recent events including the mutiny on the Spanish battleship Numancia indicate the political unrest and the serious difficulties met by the government in its attempt to maintain order.

Although the present liberal ministry has done much to meet the democratic opinion of the country, the agitation against the ministry and the monarchy increases.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Senator Bacon, of Georgia, was today chosen president pro tempore of the Senate for next Monday on account of the enforced absence of Vice President Sherman. The motion was made by Senator Smoot, of Utah. The Senate is without a permanent president pro tempore, having failed to agree on a successor to the late Senator Frye.

Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—While returning in a motor boat from a motor park this afternoon, Jams Hepburn, Jr., 23 years old, of this city, was shot and instantly killed on the Schykill river. The shooting is shrouded in mystery, but the police believe that the man was the victim of a stray bullet carelessly shot from the marshes lining the river.

Sandusky, Ohio., Aug. 12.—Newell Banks, Detroit's champion checker player of the United States, won his first game today in the international match he is playing with Alfred Jordan, British champion, at Cedar Point. Including today's contest Jordan has won three games and Banks one. Twelve were drawn.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The Senate today confirmed the President's recent nominations making changes in the diplomatic corps. They include the ambassadors to Germany, Italy and Japan, and the ministers to the Kalkan States, Cuba, Belgium, Argentine and the Netherlands.

Manchester, Vt., Aug. 12.—Walter J. Travis, the Garden City veteran golfer, today won the final match with R. R. Gorton, of Bracburn, in the contest for the first president's cup at the Ekwanok links, by 7 up and 6 to play. This is the second time Travis has won the cup.

TAKES BACK THE EMPTY PODS

Thaddeus Obediently Returns to Grocer, but Is Exceedingly Busy En Route.

Little Thaddeus is an East side boy who likes uncooked young green peas. These tid-bits he devours with relish direct from the pods, in whatever quantities are obtainable. His weakness for young green peas recently came near getting him into trouble, as it led him to petty larceny.

Passing a small grocery near his home, the youngster spied a basket of peas, and, seeing that no one was looking, he grabbed a fistfull and toddled hurriedly off. Reaching home with his plunder he was about to sit down and leisurely enjoy himself, when his mither discovered him with the goods on, and demanded to know where he got the peas.

"I taked 'em fum B'own's 'tore," explained the youngster, nibbling a pea appreciatively.

"Thaddeus," said the mother sternly, "you take those peas right back to Mr. Brown, and when you give them back to him you tell him you are a thief."

Thaddeus obediently got up and started back toward the store, but he must have been exceedingly busy en route, for it was a handful of empty pea hulls that he handed to the grocer.

"Hey, Mister B'own," he said, "take em. I'm a Fef."

CONDUCTOR FATALLY BURNED

Crown Sheet of Locomotive Blew Out Near Raleigh—Jennings Cotton Mill Amends Charter—The Adoption of Arithmetics

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 12.—Conductor Walter Finch, terribly scalded last evening in the explosion of the mogul locomotive No. 904, Seaboard Air Line, five miles west of Raleigh, died in Rex Hospital here at 7 o'clock this morning. Engineer Steven Stogner and colored fireman, Jno. Maxe, who were the other injured, are improving steadily and will recover.

The freight train had just left Johnston street station here at No. 19, Raleigh to Hamlet, when the accident occurred. Inspection of the injured engine in the shops here shows that the crown sheet blew out, turning volumes of steam into the fire box which emitted a mass of scalding steam into the cab where the three men were. Engineer Stogner probably escaped fatal injury by jumping from the engine.

The Jennings Cotton Mills (Incorporated), Lumberton, filed today an amendment to its charter providing for the issuance of $100,000 additional preferred stock without increasing the amount of the authorized capital. H. D. Jennings is president of the corporation.

CATHOLICS FOR MADERO.

If De LaBarra Does Not Accept Nomination for Presidency.

Mexico City, Aug. 12.—That the Catholic party will attempt to persuade Francisco De LaBarra, the present chief executive, to accept the nomination for the presidency, and failing in that, throw its support to Francisco I. Madero, is the story that rose to the top of the mass of today's political gossip.

Although the anti-re-electionists inaugurated their convention Tuesday, there is not the popular interest shown in their plans as in those of the Catholics. There is yet a chance that the anti-re-electionists may be forced into line for Madero and if not, Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez will be nominated. Madero and his friends profess to fear but little opposition and declare that the membership in the insurgents has been so diminished as to make them comparatively harmless.

De LaBarra persists in declaring he will not accept the nomination of any party.

URGE TAFT'S CANDIDACY

Extensive Campaign Being Conducted From White House.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—According to information published here today has been brought to light an extensive campaign conducted in from the White House and other Federal offices in Washington in behalf of President Taft's candidacy for re-election in 1912. Charles D. Hilles, secretary to President Taft, and George C. Rankin, who is a National bank receiver, are said to have sent out a large number of confidential letters in the nature of inquiries concerning popular sentiment upon the President and his administration.

Each letter sent out by Mr. Hilles upon White House stationery has enclosed another communication which in detail set forth all of the claims for achievement and benefits under President Taft's administration. The enclosure is a typewritten copy of a letter sent by the President's secretary some time ago to Frank P. MacLennan, of Topeka, Kansas.

INJURED WOMAN IDENTIFIED.

Miss Lambert, of Washington, D. C., Hurt in Street Car Accident.

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 12.—After lying in a local hospital for nearly 36 hours, with her identity a mystery, a young woman who was badly injured by falling from an electric car in this city, yesterday, was definitely identified tonight as Miss Gertrude A. Lambert, of Washington, D. C.

The identification was made by Mrs. Joel Martin, of East Barnstead, with whom Miss Lambert was spending the summer. It is expected she will have to remain in the hospital a few days longer.

Miss Lambert's father is the head of an automobile company in Washington, D. C.

THREE ELECTROCUTED.

Workmen in West Virginia Lost Lives on Construction Work.

Grafton, W. Va., Aug. 12.—John Naughton, aged 29, of Harrisburg, Pa., Joe Valansoe, aged 32, and Mike Fiarri, aged 30, were instantly killed by 2,700 volts of electric current today.

The men were employes of a railroad contractor and were raising a derrick. In making fast a guy wire, they dragged the wire cable across the feed wire of an electric road, wearing off the insulation, making a perfect contact, and getting the full force of the current.

WHITEVILLE NOTES

Death in Georgia—Visitors in Town—Other Notes on Interest.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Walter Smith received a telegram this morning stating that her father, Mr. A. G. Patterson, had died at his home in Almo, Ga. Mr. Patterson has been very ill for a long while and his death was not unexpected. Mrs. Smith left at once to attend the funeral services. She has the sympathy of many friends in her bereavement.

Mr. Oscar L. Clark and Dr. G. L. Clark, of Clarkton, are in town today returning from a large camping party of 25 that have been enjoying an ideal outing at Lake Waccamaw for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Upchurch and children, also Mr. Tom Jonhnson, of Rafford, spent a short while in Whiteville today en route to Lake Waccamaw and Wrightsville Beach. They are traveling in automobiles.

Mr. Arthur M. Bass and Miss Lillie Davis, of Fairmont, came over to Whiteville yesterday and were married by Rev. D. C. Geddie. It was said to have been an elopement.——Miss Bessie Prince of Dunn, is the guest of Miss Luola High.——Mrs. J. I. Davis, of Southport, arrived yesterday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Memory. She will probably remain here until Capt. Davis returns from Galveston, Texas, where he went with the Costock.——A social event of much interest to the very young little folks was the birthday party given by Miss Norma Smith at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Fred B. Smith, yesterday afternoon, in honor of her fifth birthday. Norma is one of the loveliest little girls in Whiteville and her friends enjoyed to the fullest the pleasures afforded in the celebration of this event.

A very serious and unfortunate accident here was averted yesterday afternoon by the timely presence of mind of Dr. W. H. Crowell, and the fact that his automobile was going at a very slow speed. About 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon as the touring car of Dr. Crowell, containing himself, Messrs. L. W. Stanley, Jackson Greer and Sheriff Richardson, was going from Whiteville to Vineland, just as they reached the Formyduval Hotel where a number of children were playing, the little three-year-old son of Mr. L. L. Hinson darted across the street supposedly to get his bicycle which was on the other side. As the little fellow was directly in front of the car it was impossible to do any thing except to just turn a little to ward the wheels from passing over his body. This Dr. Crowell did, and very fortunately he escaped serious injury, although the car knocked him down and passed entirely over him, but was stopped just at tthis time. He was picked up and carried to his home where every attention was given him by the occupants of the car.

CLOVER IN GRANVILLE

Solid Car Load of Seed Received—Educational Notes—Crops.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Oxford, N. C., Aug. 12.—A solid car load of clover seed has just been received in Oxford. Horner Bros. and J. G. Hall bought this amount, 400 bushels worth between $2,500 and $3,000. It is estimated that one bushel will seed three acres and that a good stand of clover will increase the yield of corn at least three barrels to the acre. At this rate this one car load of seed ought to increase the corn crop in the county 3,600 barrels which will be worth something like $15,000. It is estimated that there will be sold at least another car load in Oxford and probably three-fourths of a car in other markets of the county.

This has been an unfavorable year for voting special school tax on account of the drought and agitation about increase of valuation of property for taxation, but report has just come in that an election was carried in Tally-Ho township, this county, without a dissenting vote. This is the third unanimous election for the school tax that has been carried in the county. Your correspondent is informed that over 75 per cent. of the property in the county is now paying special tax for schools.

The recent rains have made great improvement in the crops. It is now thought that the tobacco crop will be the heaviest ever raised in the county. Early corn was cut off but late corn after clover is doing well. The cotton crop which is confined to the southern part of the county is the best for a number of years.

THREE SLASHED SERIOUSLY.

Fatal Row Over Jewelry Punch Board at Greenleaf, N. C.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Goldsboro, N. C., Aug. 12.—A serious cutting affray occurred this afternoon about 6 o'clock a few miles north of this city at a small village called Greenleaf when Bryant Talton, a merchant at Greenleaf, seriously cut three white men, Bill and Caesar Pate and John Horne, with a razor. The trouble started over a jewelry punch board and tonight the three wounded men were in a serious condition with the chances for the recovery of two of them very doubtful, these being Caesar Pate and John Horne. Full particulars of the trouble cannot be learned at this hour.

The three men are still living at 10 o'clock tonight, but the dactors state that Caesar Pate has a slim chance to recover, due to the results of heavy loss of blood.

REMOVAL OF CASWELL GUNS

Matter Called to Attention of War Department Officials — Congressman Godwin Secures Further Drainage Concessions

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—The dismantling of the eight new steel mortars, battery Bagley, at Fort Caswell, to be exchanged for older ones will early this week by citizens of to the attention of Congressman Godthe engineer recommending the survey Southport and he and Senators Overman and Simmons at once took the matter up with the War Department and made a vigorous protest.

Adjutant General Ainsworth promised to make an investigation immediately. On Monday Congressman Godwin and Senators Simmons and Overman will again call at the war office and demand to know the status of the case. They desire to know why this discrimination is contemplated, and to nip it in the bud, if possible.

Congressman Godwin has scored another victory in the matter of swamp drainage for his district. In June Mr. Godwin requested the drainage department of the Agricultural Experiment Station for an examination of 7,000 acres of swamp affected land in Harnett county, lying across the Cape Fear river from Dunn, in Stewart's Creek township. The request was granted and the field examination was made the middle of June by a government engineer. Today Congressman Godwin was notified by the department that a survey of the district had been recommended and that the government would furnish an engineer and the proper apparatus, the land owners to furnish any help the engineer may need. In the report the engineer recommended the survey says that the land in question is now worth $15 or $20 per acre and when drained will be worth $50 to $75. In Cumberland Mr. Godwin secured a government survey of a much greater body of swamp land, the government to spend several thousand dollars on it.

END OF 30 YEARS' FEUD.

Brother Killed Brother—Accused of Burning Barn.

Bloomsburg, Pa., Aug. 12.—Hearing that he had been accused of burning his brother's barn two nights ago, Abraham Peterman is alleged to have attempted to kill his brother John, and was himself beaten to death by his intended victim today. Abraham Peterman was more than 70 years old and his brother is near the same age. The fight occurred at John Peterman's barn in Sugarloaf township, near here. Each was armed with stones and a life and death struggle ensued until both lay helpless. Abraham Peterman's brains were literally batted out and John Peterman is said to be at the point of death.

The tragedy marked the end of a 30 years' feud. The brothers lived on adjoining farms.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 12.—The western half of the medical building, one of the three oldest structures on the University of Michigan campus, was destroyed by fire tonight, thought to be of incendiary origin. The flames originated on the fourth floor, which was unoccupied at the time and where there were no live electric wires.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATON, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

It is the wish of all to obtain success in life. The way to reach this goal is easily defined—spend less than you make. To make a saving whenever you can means to pay cash for what you get, you are not then paying a part of the other man's bad debts.

The Big Store of Geo. O. Gaylord, on Front street, is not ashamed or afraid to do a credit business, but we find that by selling our goods for the cash we can discount our bills, and save quite a profit which we can give our customers the benefit of. It is supposed to be the dull season of the year now and in our Big Store we have it piled full of merchandise. The stock is complete and the clerks are kept busy. In the dress goods department on the first floor we are badly needing room, as the cotton will soon be opening and harvest time has come and we do not wish to pack those goods away for next season. We are selling our 12 1-2c organdie batiste, sheer lawns, all beautiful goods, for 7 1-2c per yard. Beautiful quality 40-inch white lawn in 10 to 20-yard lengths, which is cheap at 12 1-2c, a fresh supply from the factory for 9c per yard. An old ladies' American print calico in black and white, the best goods made, worth 8c per yard, and we will sell 10 yards to each customer for 5c a yard.

A big assortment of ladies' dresses to sell at just about half price, 50 cents on the dollar. A lot of ladies' slippers to close out, $1.50 values, and good shoes for the price, at 97 cents a pair. A big lot of men's linen sole, heel and toe with fine gause lisle tops, a good 25c sock, for 15c. A fine line of men's pants, all wool, sporty, $5.00 goods for $2.98 a pair.

FINE CLOTHES FOR MEN

The kind that are made by tailors that make the best. The cloth, the lining, the stiffening, the silk thread that they are sewed with, the color and the style are warranted by the Adler Rochester Clothing Co., the finest clothes made in the world.

We have a few suits of the Adler clothes left from our Spring purchases. The price of these suits are from $18.00 to $25.00 a suit and we will sell them now from $15.00 to $21.00 per suit. If you buy one Adler suit you will buy nothing else in the future but Adler clothing.

The Big Store on Front street is anxious to add you to their list of customers and will make it to your advantage to come in and see them. Remember the place.

If most men had to run for office on their reputation they wouldn't run.

What has become of the old fashioned man whose word was as good as his bond?

To be appointed a United States Senator from Maine is like getting money from home.

A West Point graduate in New York is in trouble for stealing hair. Next year a lot of politicians will have all sorts of trouble when they attempt to split hairs.

The Houston Post says "An Ohio woman claims that her husband talks too much." Probably he has to do it in order to elucidate the excuses that are required of him.

"Why does a woman insist on having the last word?" inquires the Des Moines Tribune. Just to pander to her determination. A man who tries to have the last word is no lady.

In the current number of the Outlook, Col. Roosevelt says "the government must control the development of Alaska." The government knows that, but what it wants is for the Colonel to tell how to turn the trick.

A New York man is in jail for selling stock on an invention to utilize sunshine. He got into trouble for failing to make good, but in North Carolina men get into trouble for successfully operating moonshine outfits.

A Chicago man died after having tried a diet of water for a week. Of course, some people will argue that this is a reason why water should be prohibited, but it will teach others that there is no particle of use to drink water like it was whiskey.

Various preachers and women are endeavoring to "save" Miss Madeline Talmage Force, the young girl who is to marry John Jacob Astor, the multi-millionaire. They want to save her by preventing her marriage to an old man on account of his money. It would also appear that Col. Jack Astor needs saving.

Shall Uncle Sam build a railroad? In accordance with ex-President Roosevelt's suggestion, Senator Jones, of Washington, has introduced a resolution providing that President Taft order a survey to determine the most practical route for a railroad from a point on Controller Bay to the Alaskan coal fields. Those who favor government ownership of railroads are likely to see a government road built in Alaska, and then they will find out whether it can run a railroad or not. However, the government already owns a railroad across the Isthmus of Panama, but, so far as we know, it doesn't report any earnings on account of its operation.

The Star's Washington correspondent says Congressman Godwin has invited Secretary Wilson, of the Agricultural Department, to visit the fine trucking and agricultural belt of eastern North Carolina. By all means let the Secretary come to the Nation's Garden Spot. No man in the United States is better known than the able Secretary of Agriculture and few have ever done as much practical work for the country. This is a Wilson country, and the people of eastern North Carolina would be both pleased and honored by a visit from this distinguished and popular representative of the Nation's great agricultural interests. The Star has never given the Secretary very much advice, but it does not hesitate to advise him to accept Mr. Godwin's invitation for the reason that a reception of great cordiality will greet him everywhere. Wilmington wants to see him first.

GUARD OUR TRUCKING INDUSTRY

It should startle everybody interested either directly or indirectly in the trucking industry to contemplate for a moment the probable dissolution of the East Carolina Truck and Fruit Growers Association. Nevertheless, there is a strong probability of this calamity, according to the call sent out this week for the 15th annual meeting of the association.

The meeting has been called for next Wednesday, August 16th, at 2:30 P. M., at the New Hanover county court house, in the city of Wilmington. The principal business for consideration will be whether or not to dissolve the association, to discuss the affairs of the organization, to hear the reports of officers, and to elect officers, if it shall be decided to maintain the life of this valuable organization of the truck and fruit growers of eastern North Carolina. In the call for the meeting there appears this significant and ominous announcement: "As it is probable that steps will be taken to dissolve the association at this meeting, every stockholder is earnestly requested to be present."

It is difficult for the Star to conceive that any such step should be thought of for a moment by the live truckers of the several counties in the very centre of the Nation's Garden Spot. The usefulness and necessity of such an organization is acknowledged, and it would indeed be a great blow to the berry and trucking interests not to re-organize the association on more permanent and broader lines. It is easier to re-organize the existing association than to organize a new one, a step which ultimately must be taken if the industry is to be safeguarded. However, it is decidedly better to put new life into the old organization than to hope to start a new one along similar lines.

The Star understands that the association is in debt but that it can pay every cent of its indebtedness and make a fresh start if all the delinquent stock is paid in full into the treasury. That should be done by all means, and if it is necessary new stock should be subscribed in order to keep this useful and beneficial organization in active existence. It will be a deplorable mistake not to decide with enthusiasm and earnestness that the institution shall not only be sustained, but that its purposes and plans shall be vigorously carried out, its efficiency be increased and that its benefits be taken advantage of by every truck and fruit grower in Eastern Carolina.

Let the stockholders come to Wilmington next Wednesday fully determined to keep up their organization, and it is hoped that all farmers who are not stockholders will come and aid in re-organizing so vitally useful an auxiliary to a great industry. If the association is dissolved the growers will have no organization for the protection of their vast interests. In union there is strength, and unless the growers have some kind of organization each man will have to shift for himself, a condition which is bound to result disastrously.

The East Carolina Truck and Fruit Growers' Association was organized in 1896 and incorporated in 1898. During its 15 years' existence the great strawberry and trucking industry of this section has developed, and having knowledge of the association's operations, the Star is confident that without it we never would have developed such an industry as we now have. We are equally satisfied that without such an organization for the future the industry will be without its right arm. We know it has been a tremendous factor in furthering the strawberry and trucking interests, for through its instrumentality freight and express rates have been cut exactly in half. Refrigerator service was developed and transportation and other facilities have been improved.

One of its main features has been in keeping the growers posted as to the markets and in securing a wise distribution of the various crops. Otherwise, the markets would have been glutted, prices would have gone to pieces, and the consequence would have been ruin instead of prosperity for those engaged in the industry. When efficiently maintained the association keeps the growers in touch with each other, and if there ever was a time when there should be earnest co-operation between them it is right now. Besides looking after the matter of refrigeration, transportation and distribution, the association also has looked after the interests of the growers in their dealings with the manufacturers of crates and shipping packages. Its effective service was notable during the car shortage of 1905 when it is estimated that through its efforts the growers were saved from a loss of $200,000 to $250,000.

Without any organization through which to deal, our growers will be helpless, and as the present one is recognized by the Atlantic Coast Line, the Pennsylvania Railroad and express companies, and transportation generally, it is logically preferable that its existence should be perpetuated.

Under the East Carolina Truck and Fruit Growers' Association eastern North Carolina has grown into the greatest strawberry growing section of the world. During the 15 years of the association's life, this section has shipped 5,459,120 crates of strawberries, which have been sold at an average of $3.20 a crate, bringing the gross sum of $17,469,184. The expense of handling this immense business has been $5,459,120, which, deducted from the gross amount, left the growers $12,010,064.

Cultivation, fertilization and other expenses have averaged $1.10 per crate, making that expense $6,005,032, leaving a net profit of $6,005,032, to the growers. The other truck looked after averages about $500,000 annually, so it is quite obvious that so large an interest cannot afford to be without some such organization looking after its interests. It is a mutual association, and as it is in the hands of, and controlled by the growers themselves, no organization can be so satisfactory as the farmers' own.

For the meeting in Wilmington next Wednesday, the railroads offer reduced rates good from August 14th to 17th, inclusive, so that there should be a large attendance of stockholders and others interested in this important matter.

NORTHEAST RIVER BRIDGE

The commissioners of New Hanover and Pender counties will soon undertake to agree upon the location of the steel bridge which the two counties are to construct across the North east river at or near Castle Haynes. This has been a long delayed matter but it is hoped it will be settled at the earliest possible moment so it can be utilized in developing the counties along the lines so confidently expected because of free and easy communication between Wilmington and the towns and counties to the north of us.

Of course, the bridge is a certainty now, since the project has been financed, but the enterprise is delayed on account of disagreement as to the most suitable location for the bridge. The New Hanover county commissioners rather favor Blossom's ferry, at Castle Haynes, as the most suitable place to bridge the river, but the Pender commissioners and people favor Hungry Bluff, near Castle Haynes, both locations being in sight of the bridge of the Atlantic Coast Line. All parties are anxious for the bridge and are enthusiastic over the proposition, but its proper location is the one question that agitates them.

Owing to the desire of many persons in both Pender and New Hanover, a member of The Star's editorial staff visited the bridge country yesterday, leaving the city at 6 A. M. in an automobile accompanied by two gentlemen who are remotely interested in the matter. We inspected both locations on the river, crossed at Blossom's ferry and made our way to Rocky Point and thence around to Hungry Bluff, at the C. J. Miller place on the Northeast. Of course, we cannot go into details about the trip, but we will as briefly as possible summarize our conclusions.

If we were going to build a bridge on economical lines of construction we would pick out Blossom's ferry, but if we were going to construct a bridge which will materially be worth more to the two counties we would erect it at Hungry Bluff. The adoption of the Hungry Bluff route will open up two of the finest sections of Pender county, those around Rocky Point and Long Creek, not to mention points beyond. From Hungy Bluff to Rocky Point the country is one of the finest agricultural regions in eastern North Carolina, and, of course, around Rocky Point and other portions of Pender there is a simular region that is as fine as a crow ever flew over. A road by way of Hungry Bluff would open up all that fine country to Wilmington and particularly would prove advantageous to the enterprising farmers of that portion of Pender. It would carry travelers through the finest portion of Pender, so that we might say that for a spectacular exhibit of the resources of Pender and for developing that portion of the county, the Hungry Bluff route is the most practicable and in the end would be the most economical and advantageous to both counties.

Blossom's ferry presents an easier proposition so far as bridge building goes, but in that respect the economy would be at an end, at least for Pender county. When the bridge shall have been erected then it would be up to Pender county to build a road through a river swamp which frequently is overflowed to a depth of several feet. A costly fill would have to be constructed, and even if one were to be built, it would at all times be menaced by high water. If a good road is made of the present swamp road, without raising it, there is no doubt that in some seasons of the year the bridge would be impassable on account of high water. If, therefore, the bridge is built at the ferry, it will compel the construction of a long fill by Pender county. Otherwise the road will sometimes be out of commission on account of overflow.

On that route also the road passes through three or four miles of dreary, sandy waste, a most uninviting country in which not a farm is to be seen. It would make a bad impression upon visitors, and for practicable purposes would be less available to the farmers who are developing the really superior lands of Pender. These were our own observations, and upon inquiry of leading men at Rocky Point and elsewhere in Pender we found full verification of what we had concluded about the proposition.

The Pender people strongly favor the Hungry Bluff route, and not only for practical purposes, but so far as economy goes for Pender it will be decidedly the best and most advantageous route. We find that at Hungry Bluff there are high bluffs leading to the river on both sides and that the construction of roads could be accomplished at only a nominal cost. In fact, the roads on the Pender side are immensely better than those on the upper route.

However, this is a matter for Pender and New Hanover to decide, but as the bridge is to be a permanent affair and will be there long after we have given way to future generations, it is for the commissioners to settle the question right and build that bridge where the general interests will be best subserved. Blossom's ferry is a beautiful location, but we think it is not available for the bridge. However, it is a valuable piece of property to Captain Samuel Blossom and if the bridge were built at either location the ferry would be put out of commission. Since we believe in a square deal, we do not hesitate to say that wherever the bridge is built, Captain Blossom should be equitably rewarded for the loss which he would sustain in making his ferry a profitless piece of property. However, that is another matter for the commissioners of the two counties to settle according to the equities, the public interest and their best judgment.

TRADE EXTENSION.

An interesting announcement was made in the Star on Friday concerning the plans of the Wilmington Trade Extension Association, recently organized to put measures into effect to extend the trade and commercial interests of Wilmington. The association is composed of 71 of Wilmington's leading jobbers and retail merchants, representing all lines of the mercantile trade, and they have set to work in an earnest and practicable way to widen the business of the city along all lines.

This is a commendable movement and every merchant in the city, be their interest ever so small, should heartily enlist in it, for its benefit will be general. Indeed, the hotels and other interests which depend upon the public should be concerned in the efforts of the association, for it is not in behalf of any one interest, but its endeavors are based upon the broadest scope—the main object being to foster the mercantile growth of Wilmington.

No doubt the association will prove one of the most useful and beneficial ever organized in Wilmington. At present it will take up the proposition of free fares for purchasers coming to Wilmington, but, doubtless, its efforts will be extended to other propositions as its work develops. The Star is gratified to see such an organization banded together in so commendable an undertaking and we are confident it will meet with success.

The chairman of the association is Mr. W. B. Cooper, banker and jobber, and Mr. Howard B. Branch, recently with the Star, is the secretary. From now forth, the association will begin business, and we expect it to be one of the livest factors in our city for development of the great interests which it purposes to foster.

Says the Charlotte Chronicle: "The Fayetteville Observer's report about the swap of guns at Fort Caswell should have a prompt congressional investigation. No such a bald cheat as that was ever attempted on this State by the government." It will be looked into and steps will be taken to put a stop to the robbing of Fort Caswell for the benefit of a New England fortification with a pull.

The goal to which North Carolina is tending is full assessment and low tax rate. If property is assessed at its true value in money, the rate can be reduced so that property owners will pay no more taxes than now. The selling of daughters to worthless inheritors of wealth or rank was a theme which drew out all that was keenest and most withering in Thackeray's arsenal of satire. His pen was laid down half a century ago, but if he were among us today it would not find its old occupation gone. Nothing in the Victorian and Georgian picture gallery he has left us surpasses in sordid vulgarity the specimens which our own time and our own city afford the ignoble bartering of youth and beauty for yachts and automobiles and country houses and a place in "the smart set." One additional element there is indeed, in our time, with which Thackeray had on occasion to deal. It would require no less than his inimitable combination of amused contempt and scathing indignation to do justice to the way in which the sale of a young girl to a notorious rouge figures in the columns of our up-to-date newspapers.—New York Evening Post.

At the hearing of the Stanley committee Wednesday George W. Perkins was asked if he had ever made a "contribution to a campaign fund with an agreement" that he should be reimbursed, and if he ever made "a contribution expecting to be reimbursed." To both questions Mr. Perkins answered "No." So it was purely by inadvertense that Mr. Perkins in 1904, while an officer of the New Life Insurance Company, "personally" contributed $50,000 to the Roosevelt campaign fund. So it was solely through an oversight that after the election Mr. Perkins reimbursed himself from the insurance company's funds, and it was again due to an oversight that he concealed on the company's books the purpose of the expenditure. Naturally in the circumstances it was inadvertently that Chief Judge Cullen, of the Court of Appeals, spoke of Mr. Perkins' inadvertent misuse of the policy-holders' money as "larceny." After this can any one doubt that Mr. Perkins neither had an agreement nor expected to be reimbursed for his "personal" contribution in 1904 to the Roosevelt campaign fund? To do so is to doubt Mr. Perkins' word.—New York World.

THE M'NEILL CASE IS HEARD

Justice Harriss Heard Evidence and Arguments Yesterday—Withheld His Judgment Until Monday Morning.

Mr. Agnus McNeill, president of the Wilmington Handle Company, who was arrested Thursday on a warrant charging him with obtaining board from the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, without paying for it, was given preliminary hearing before Justice Harriss yesterday. After hearing the evidence and argument in the case Justice Harriss postponed his decision until Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Evidence brought out yesterday tended to show that Mr. McNeill and his wife had been staying at the Seashore Hotel for some time the present season. On August 27th, Mr. McNeill gave Mr. Edgar L. Hinton, manager of the Seashore Hotel, a check for $271 in payment of his account. The check was drawn on the Bank of Darien, Ga., from which town Mr. McNeill removed here. Several days elapsed and word reached Mr. Hinton by telegram that the check was not good, as Mr. McNeill had no account with them. On July 31st, Mr. Hinton seized Mr. McNeill's baggage, as he was preparing to leave the hotel. Mr. McNeill is then alleged to have given the hotel a check which he said would be good, on condition that they release the baggage. This was done and he gave them a Wilmington Handle Company check, signed by a Mr. Hopkins, who was then secretary and treasurer, and countersigned by himself, as president of the company, as required by law. This check was drawn on the Southern National Bank, and though it was written on July 31st, was dated August 4th, as the company did not have the amount, $300.90, in the bank at that time, but would have it by the 4th, Mr. McNeill is alleged to have said.

The following day Mr. Chas. N. Evans and Mr. J. W. Simpson, president and cashier, respectively, of the Southern National Bank, bought an interest in the Wilmington Handle Company, and when the check was presented at the bank on August 4th, Mr. Simpson had been made secretary of the Handle Company, vice Mr. Hopkins, resigned, and the bank could not lawfully honor the check, as it was not countersigned by the existing secretary of the corporation. Mr. Evans testified that on that date the handle company had on deposit in the Southern National the sum of $1,200.

Mr. McNeill was represented by Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy, while County Attorney Marsden Bellamy prosecuted the case for the State and Arthur Cobb, Esq., for the State Hotel Men's Association.

Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy argued that the first check had been given after Mr. McNeill had obtained the board for a certain period and on account of this fact it could not be construed as prima facie evidence of intent to defraud. The second check, he argued, was given to the hotel people with the understanding that he hold it for four days until the firm of which he was president could get funds into the bank. Mr. McNeill, Mr. Bellamy argued, did not know at the time that when the check would be presented there would have been a change in the officers of the company, thus compelling the bank to refuse to pay it.

Mr. Marsden Bellamy contended that Mr. McNeill knew of the coming change in officers of the Wilmington Hand'e Company, at the time he wrote the check, and that he intended to defraud the hotel at the time.

Owing to the many complications of the case, Justice Harriss said, he desired to withhold his decision until Monday morning at 9 o'clock. He stated that he agreed with Mr. Bellamy as to the first check being given after the defendant had already obtained the accommodations at the hotel, and, therefore, could not be construed as meaning that he intended to defraud. From his statement it is evident that he will only consider the second check in rendering his judgment.

Mr. Agnus McNeill came to Wilmington from Darien, Ga. Since leaving the Seashore Hotel he has been stopping at the Colonial Inn.

CAROLINA BEACH AND FORT.

Delightful Opportunity to Spend Day at Either Place—Concert.

Capt. John W. Harper, of the steamer Wilmington, gives his hundreds of friends and patrons the choice of two delightful trips down the Cape Fear river today. There will be three trips of the steamer at 9 A. M., 2:30 and 7:30 P. M., and the choice of resorts will be Fort Caswell, where the visitors will have the opportunity of seeing one of the finest army posts on the South Atlantic coast and the North Carolina Artillery Reserves in annual encampment there, or Carolina Beach, where two excellent programmes of music will be rendered by the Airdome Orchestra, Mr. Frank Peiffer director. The fare to the beach is only 25 cents for the round trip and that to Fort Caswell only a little higher, so that a very large crowd is expected. Among the State troops at Caswell are the boys of the Wilmington Light Infantry and many of their friends in this city will take this opportunity of seeing them in their annual maneuvers. Remember that the first trip of the steamer is 9 A. M. today.

Interment was made in Bellevue cemetery.

DARING ROBBERIES LAST NIGHT

Two Stores on Castle Street Entered and About $100 Secured—One Proprietor Had Gun Pointed at Him by Negro.

The lull which has occurred in the series of robberies that for a time terrorized the citizens of Wilmington, was broken last night, when two stores on Castle street were entered and money to the amount of $100 or more taken from the cash register, in one instance while the proprietor of the store had a gun pointed at him.

Mr. Hayne Hines, who runs a store at Tenth and Castle streets, was the loser to the amount of between $95 and $100, and Mr. Edwards, who conducts a store at Third and Castle streets, lost some $6 or $7. In addition to these, Tony Fantopuola, who has a fruit and confectionery stand on Castle street at Sixth, had two boxes of cigarettes stolen from him some time during the day. Each box contained 50 packs of cigarettes, the total number of cigarettes taken being 1,000.

The police sent to investigate the matter returned to headquarters last night about 1 o'clock. Their version of the robbery at the Hines store at 10th and Castle street was that Mr. Hines' brother had counted out the money taken in during the day and had placed it in a sack, which he dropped into a cash drawer, leaving the drawer open. While his back was turned a negro who had been standing in the store grabbed the money in the sack and fled with it. Mr. Hines knew the negro, although he was not certain as to his name. He gave the officers a description of the man and they were making a careful search for him last night. At Mr. Edwards' store at Third and Castle, the police stated that the proprietor was in the back end of the building when two negroes entered the store. He did not learn of their presence until he heard the bell on the cash register ring. When he heard this Mr. Edwards grabbed a knife and started towards the negroes. They fled and as they reached the door one of them pulled a revolver and pointed it at Mr. Edwards, although he did not fire. It was only about $6 or $7 secured at this place, but the amount secured from Mr. Hines was between $95 and $100.

The police thought at first that both robberies were committed by the same men, but the statement of the storekeepers disapproves this.

The robbery at Mr. Edwards' store occurred about 11:15, and the one at Mr. Hines' store some time before that.

Tony Fantopula did not know at what time the cigarettes were stolen from his place, and he did not know whether the theft was committed by negroes or white persons.

The robberies last night are of a particular bold nature and serve to cap the climax of the others that occurred some time ago. In spite of all the efforts the police are making, the robbers seem to have no trouble in entering any store or dwelling they choose and making their get away just as easily as if Wilmington had no police force. At a meeting of the City Council some time ago Councilman B. C. Moore, in charge of the department of public safety, was authorized to purchase a pair of blood hounds for use in such cases. It was stated at the time that a pair of the dogs could be secured at a reasonable figure from a nearby town in South Carolina. However, the owner of the blood hounds did not say whether he would guarantee them, so he was invited by Mr. Moore to bring them for a trial. Last night would have been a most opportune time to give them a try-out had they been here.

THE RECORDER'S COURT

Many Cases Postponed Yesterday—Hog Ordinance Cases.

An imposing array of defendants were lined up for trial before the Recorder yesterday morning, but for the most part the cases were continued until Monday, and if Saturday night is as productive of occupants for the mourner's bench as it usually is, the docket will be rather congested tomorrow morning.

Henry Howard, colored, was charged with non-support. Judgment was suspended on the payment of costs and the condition that he appear in court every other week and show that he is furnishing his better half with the necessary means of existence.

Cal Roderick, disorderly conduct, was fined $10 and costs. The case against Chas. Hopkins, white, charged with disorderly conduct, was continued until Monday. Hopkins furnished $50 cash bond.

The cases against Messrs. D. D. Cameron and Geo. Burnett, both charged with violating the hog ordinance, was continued until Monday. These are the first arrests made under the new ordinance and considerable interest attaches to the outcome of the trial.

Mr. F. J. Gooding was fined $10 and costs for firing a pistol in the city limits. Mr. Gooding took an appeal. Mr. J. O. Brock was required to pay the costs of obstructing a sidewalk

The case against Shepherd Newkirk, colored, of Castle Haynes, charged with slandering Mary Robbins, colored, was heard. His Honor postponed udgment until Monday morning.

There were quite a number of other cases postponed until tomorrow morning's session, though none of them was of special interest.

Engineers for A. C. L. Many Years.

This week's Sanford Express has the following which will be of interest here: "Two of the oldest engineers in point of service in the State run on the Atlantic Coast Line between Sanford and Wilmington. They are Messrs. J. P. Monaghan and J. M. Clark. They were among the first men to become engineers on the old Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway when it extended only from Fayetteville to Gulf. Mr. Clark has been running an engine 28 years and Mr. Monaghan even longer. During that more than a quarter of a century Mr. Clark was never more than slightly injured while railroading and he has never been in any bad wrecks. Both men look as if they were able to continue for a number of years to handle the throttles."

BIG EDUCATIONAL RALLY

School Committeemen of New Hanover Will Meet With Board of Education—State Superintendent Is Visited.

Preparatory to the opening of the rural schools of the county for the Fall term the first Monday in September, just three weeks from tomorrow, a joint meeting of the district committeemen and the County Board of Education has been called to be held in the Court House next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Prof. Washington Catlett, county superintendent of public instruction, has invited Dr. J. Y. Joyner, the State superintendent, to be present and deliver an address and he is hopeful of acceptance of the invitation.

In the event Dr. Joyner cannot attend it is most likely that he will send one of his very capable representatives to fill his place. The idea of holding a joint meeting of the committeemen and members of the Board of Education and others interested in the educational advancement of the county, is that of Professor Catlett and the meeting will be similar to one he held two years ago. He stated last night that replies from committeemen indicate that practically all will be in attendance at the meeting. All three members of the Board of Education are also expected to be present.

Prof. Catlett said that the indications point to a most successful school year. From every part of the county come reports that the enrollment will be large. Nearly all the teachers have been selected and will begin to arrive in about two weeks.

The Board of Education will meet in regular monthly session tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. A number of matters of importance are to be considered.

Mr. J. H. Johnston, a committeeman in district No. 12, on Castle Haynes road, reported to Professor Catlett the burning of the colored school house in that district yesterday afternoon, having caught from a forest fire which raged over about 24 or 30 acres in the community. The building was valued at about $500 and was insured. Steps will be taken at once to rebuild.

"To these, we tender our heartfelt thanks, and with the hope that many of us will live to meet you again. May God bless dear Wilmington and her citizens is our prayer.

"Respectfully submitted,
"W. H. H. GREGORY,
"Chairman."

POST DATER-STAMP.

Gratifying Progress Toward Financing Promising Local Industry.

Last night closed the third week of the work of interesting the Wilmington and North Carolina investors in the Post Dater-Stamp Co., the very promising local industry of which previous mention has been made. Mr. G. P. Peed, financial agent of the enterprise, who has offices in the Southern Building, stated last night that the third week of the canvass was even larger and more gratifying than the two preceding weeks and that the success of the movement to make the company a local enterprise seems now assured. The purpose has not been to interest the large investors, but to make the stock attractive to the smaller capitalists, if you please, to those who have small savings to invest and wish a satisfactory return on amounts not large. Mr. Peed considers this proposition similar to that of the National Cash Register and the Burroughs Adding Machine stock, when those devices were first being exploited, and the endorsements which he has received seem to indicate as much.

ENJOYABLE HOUSE PARTY AT HOME OF SOLICITOR SHAW.

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 12.—"Liberty Hill," the magnificent home of Solicitor Henry E. Shaw, at Kinston, has been the scene of a merry house party for the past ten days. The participants in the joyful gathering were friends of Miss Jennie Shaw. Receptions, porch parties, watermelon feasts were some of the popular amusements enjoyed by the house party.

A particularly enjoyable occasion was the short excursion to Dover, where an old time watermelon feast was given by Dr. Hawes in honor of Miss Shaw's attractive guests. Another enjoyable affair was the moonlight ride and sumptuous feast of toothsome delicacies at beautiful Kennedy's mill pond. The moon seemed to exert its traditional influence upon the happy couples who strolled the shady banks and rode upon the beautiful water. A reluctant departure was finally made for the city, where the midnight picnicers were given delicious refreshments by Mrs. C. Wooten. Those who were so fortunate as to enjoy the many pleasures of the week and the old time hospitality of "Liberty Hill," were Misses Cammie McNeill, Lumberton; Elizabeth McNair, Maxton; Elizabeth Howard, Tarboro; Rachel Powers, Wallace; Messrs. Jack Oates, Tarboro; Heman S. Shaw, Wilmington; Russell Clark and William M. Shaw, Jr., Tarboro.

FIRST CASES TO BE TRIED.

Violations of Hog Ordinance Charged Other Health Matters.

Tomorrow morning in the Recorder's court will be tried the first cases arising from violations of the recently passed hog ordinance. Messrs. Dan Cameron and George Burnett were to have faced such charges at yesterday's session, but the cases could not be reached, and were continued until tomorrow.

It is said that Mr. Burnett owns 20 hogs and Mr. Cameron two. They have been in confinement in the city limits now for the past 11 days and if the men are convicted, according to the penalties prescribed by the ordinance, they must pay fines totalling $1,210. Mr. Burnett would have to pay $1,100 and Mr. Cameron $110.

It was stated at the health department yesterday that both men have made repeated boasts that they would not comply with the ordinance. Mr. Burnett, however, called up the Star last night and denied that this was true.

Warrants for their arrest were issued by the health department. Ever since the hog ordinance has gone into effect the health officers have been at work securing evidence of violations and it is likely that other cases will be desided in the courts soon. The same conditions apply to the cow ordinance, which was passed at the same time, and a list of those violating this ordinance is being compiled at the health office.

In connection with the discussion of sanitary matters, Dr. Nesbitt, city superintendent of health, yesterday told a Star representative that there seems to be a prevailing impression that the conditions prescribed in the sanitary closet ordinance apply only to that section of the city between Castle street and the railroad and 10th street and the river. This mistaken impression doubtless arises from the fact that it was published that this section was to receive attention in the matter first. The ordinance applys to the whole city and the time limit for the installing of sanitary closet outfits expires September 1st. All persons who have not complied with the terms of the ordinance by that time lay themselves liable to indictment.

Mr. Burnett stated that he had been a resident of Wilmington for 42 years and all that time had been a law abiding citizen and that it is not his purpose to begin this late day to violate the law; htat he would leave the city rather than to break its laws. When Health Officer Piner came around, he said, to investigate his hog pens he invited the officer to visit his lot. After making an investigation and finding the lot in splendid sanitary condition, Mr. Piner remarked that it was not a question of sanitary, but that the hogs must be gotten out of the city. Mr. Burnett said that he replied that if it was a law and that if it was the purpose of the city officials to enforce it, then he would kill his hogs just as soon as he could. Mr. Burnett stated further that he had killed a number of his hogs and the others are already sold, only waiting the arrival of the purchaser.

INSURANCE MEET CLOSES.

Convention of Jefferson Standard Agents Comes to End.

Yesterday morning in the ball room of the Seashore Hotel, on Wrightsville Beach, the concluding session of the meeting of the agents of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company, of Raleigh, was held with President Jos. G. Brown, of Raleigh, presiding.

A feature of the session was the presenting of prizes to Messrs. J. T. Liles, of Orangeburg, S. C., and Geo. L. Canady, of Dunn, winners in a contest recently conducted among the company's agents. The prizes consisted of handsome leather traveling bags fitted with all the necessary toilet articles.

The meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock and several valuable papers were presented, among these being: "A Big Asset—Our Territory," by Mr. Chas. Gold, secretary and treasurer and superintendent of the agencies; "How to Make a Small Territory a Big Asset," by Mr. A. H. Ayres, of North Carolina; "Relation of Agent and Manager," by Mr. A. L. Smith, of Alabama. Messrs. J. T. Liles, of Orangeburg, S. C., and E. C. McGinnis, of Raleigh, led the discussion and many topics bearing on the insurance business were intelligently discussed, the exchange of ideas proving mutually profitable to all.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates enjoyed a sailing and fishing party and last night the convention was brought to a close by an oyster roast. The insurance men enjoyed the meeting very much, and they are loud in their praise of the Seashore Hotel and the splendid hospitality extended to them. A number of them will spend several more days at the popular resort.

NORTHEAST RIVER BRIDGE.

Mr. Paddison Gives His Reasons for Choice of Location.

Point Caswell, N. C., Aug. 12.

Editor Star:—Our people just now are very much exercised over the location of the Northeast bridge, and there seems to be a feeling of distrust that the New Hanover commissioners, holding a majority, will force the bridge to be built at Blossom's Ferry. Knowing the gentlemen as I do, I do not share this opinion. I understand the location will be decided on by the opinion of the engineers.

Let this be as it may, the larger proportion of the tax payers favor the lower route for many reasons. It will be up to Pender county to make approaches to the bridge, and anyone familiar with the old causeway from Blossom's Ferry and the long stretch of heavy sand, can readily see what an expense this would be. Pender will soon hold an election for voting on a bond issue, and we don't want anything to stand in the way of carrying the election. As New Hanover is so largely interested in good roads, I trust her commissioners will do all they can to aid our commissioners (who all favor the lower crossing), all things being equal to build at this place.

LUMINA CONCERTS TODAY.

Attractive Programmes Have Been Arranged—Cornet Solo.

The programme for the Lumina concerts this afternoon and night is composed of many very popular and familiar selections. For the afternoon concert special attention is called to the cornet solo to be played by Mr. Claude Elam. Mr. Elam is a very gifted artist and his connection with the Lumina Orchestra is acknowledged of great significance. Special attention is also called to "The Breakers," "Il Trovatore," and the "Matinee Idol," which will be rendered by the full orchestra.

One of the greatest attractions for the night programme is a violin solo "Meditation from Thais", to be performed by the leader of the orchestra, Mr. Kneisel. It is needless to say that this will be well worth hearing; for those who are familiar with Mr. Kneisel's playing, know that it is always filled with the truest expression of art. Among other numbers on the night programme that usually appeal to the Lumina patrons are "The Blue Danube," by Strauss, the new "Pink Lady," "Lucia," and others. Altogether these concerts afford the greatest opportunity of the season to hear so many good pieces of music at one time.

NEWS OF THE SHIPPING

Three Schooners and One Steamer Cleared from Port Yesterday.

Four vessels cleared from the port yesterday, two schooners have cargoes of lumber for New York, one goes light to Georgetown and a steamer has cargo for foreign export. The French steamer Charles La Couer, Capt. Condal, which secured cargo from the Acme Tea Chest Co., carries 117,000 feet of gum logs, 1,600 cases of veneering and 3,000 barrels of rosin valued at $35,180. The La Couer is the first French steamer to visit this port in several years.

The schooner Maude H. Dudley, Capt. Grover, clears for New York with 342,405 feet of lumber from the Hilton and East River lumber companies and the schooner John H. May, Capt. Stille, carries 346,585 feet of lumber shipped by the Hammer Lumber Company. The schooner Eliza A. Scribner, Capt. Dodd, cleared for Georgetown, S. C., where she will receive cargo for foreign markets.

Rather Peculiar Accident.

Mr. C. W. Potter, a well-known young man of the city, has had the experience of carrying a fragment of glass more than an inch in length in one of his feet for four days. Mr. Potter stepped on some broken glass recently while putting in radiators in Sam Lee's laundry on Market street. He removed a shoe and noticed a small piece of glass sticking in his foot. Removing the fragment he replaced his shoe and thought no more about it. Monday he went to the country to visit his father. On his return Friday his foot was paining him some and he consulted Dr. W. H. Moore. The latter examined the member and found a fragment of glass nearly an inch and a quarter in length imbedded in the flesh between the small toe and the one next to it. To say that Mr. Potter was surprised is expressing it mildly.

..Theatrical..

The Bijou will open another big box of good things tomorrow for the amusement lovers of Wilmington. The past week was a rattling one at the popular theatre, both for fine shows and big attendance, the week coming to a fitting and glorious climax last night, when people had to be turned away at each performance. It was the greatest Saturday night in the history of the Bijou and it was the greatest for Bijou-goers, who form a vast army in this city. The Bijou is the favorite spot of both young and old, and it deserves all the good things that may come its way. The list of films for this week discloses some of the best and most novel creations ever put on the market, and, by the way, all the films are the very latest, coming direct from factory to Wilmington. A wonderful Kalem photo-play will be on the bill for tomorrow, being "The Round-Up at Dawn." It vividly depicts ranch life, with plenty of daring cowboys and fearless cowgirls, and the round-up scene is a most attractive, as well as exciting spectacle. There are plenty of other films for tomorrow, including a beautiful dramatic one, "A Geranium," which tells a sweet, wholesome story, while the musical programme is going to be the merriest ever.

BRAVELY THEY FOUGHT.

Colored Vailiants Mixed Things at Front and Dock Streets.

At corner of Front and Dock streets yesterday afternoon, a negro who passes under the alias of "Billy Kersands," and another, known as Robert "Devil," declared war upon each other and for ten minutes each valiantly endeavored to strew the other all over the sidewalk. Bricks, knives and other such innocent little means of offense and defense were used freely and impartially in the conflict. Even the distinguished Japanese fighter who is now a visitor to this country could have learned something had he been present to witness the amazing display of tactics and maneuvers that was demonstrated by the ebony warriors in their efforts to save their hides. So skilful was their skirmishing that neither suffered material injury, though a white bystander had his coat slashed by a stray swipe from one of the knives. A United States mail box came to grief through contact with a brick flung with much fervor by one of the valiants. The police did not put in their appearance. Constable Savage arrested "Billy Kersands." Robert, the "Devil" made his escape, and though officers were looking for him last night he is likely still at large.

NEW LAW FIRM

Messrs. Scull, Benson and McNorton Form a Co-Partnership.

Announcement of considerable interest in legal circles was made yesterday to the effect that James H. Scull, Walter Benson and J. A. McNorton, Esqs., had formed a co-partnership and would practice law under the firm name of Scull, McNorton and Benson, with offices in the Princess building, on Princess street, occupying occupying rooms No. 103 and 104. Mr. Scull has practiced law in Wilmington for some time and has one of the largest practices of any of the younger members of the bar. Mr. Benson returned to Wilmington only a short time ago for the practice of his profession, while Mr. McNorton secured his license only a few months ago. Mr. McNorton, the junior member of the firm in point of time he has been a member of the bar, was formerly private secretary of Mr. J. F. Post, treasurer of the Atlantic Coast Line. The new firm is composed of a trio of much legal talent and ability and ambition which should assure for it a large clientele.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Citizens of Charleston, S. C., were startled today by the announcement that the Federal building there was to be sold to the city and that a bill authorizing the sale had been passed in the House yesterday. It turned out that some one had confused Charleston, S. C., with Charleston, W. Va. It is the Federal building in the West Virginia city that is to be sold.

LARCENCY FROM STORE

White Man Caught in the Act—Exciting Runaway—Other Notes

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 12.—This afternoon a white man by the name of Walker, residing a few miles from town, was caught in the act of stealing a sack of meal from Messrs White & Gough. He was followed by one of the clerks who saw where the meal was put in a wagon. The chief of police was notified and Walker was arrested. A search of the wagon revealed another bag of meal which had been stolen from Mr. L. H. Caldwell. Walker was placed in jail.

About 4 o'clock this afternoon there was an exciting runaway on Front street. A horse hitched to a buggy belonging to Mr. Prentice Barker was left standing in charge of another young man while Mr. Barker went into a store. The horse took fright and ran into an automobile standing in front of the Waverly Hotel. The young man was thrown clear over the car but escaped any serious injuries. The buggy, however, was badly wrecked.

Rev. Mr. Steele, who will assume the pastorate of the Lumberton Presbyterian Church in a short time, will preach in that church tomorrow at 11 A. M. and 8:15 P. M.

License was issued this evening for the marriage of Mr. B. E. Attman and Miss Minnie E. Nowell. The ceremony will be performed at the Methodist parsonage tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. E. M. Hoyle officiating. The bride and groom are both residents of North Lumberton.

Physicians report one case of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria in the town, both of which are mild cases.

Prof. and Mrs. J. B. Bridges, of Hope Mills, are spending several days with Messrs. E. M., W. S. and O. Mc Britt in town, and with the parents of the Messrs. Britt, at Barker's.

Mr. Eli Wishart expects to leave in the morning for the Beach where he will spend a week.

THE MONETARY COMMISSION

Fate of Same Will Be Decided in the Senate Tomorrow.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The fate of the National Monetary Commission swept by unfriendly breezes in the Senate this week, virtually will be decided next Monday afternoon. Attacked by unnecessary delay in submitting its report to Congress and for extravagant expenses, the commission headed by former Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island, and consisting of Senators and representatives and former members of both Houses and appointed more than three years ago to make a report on which Congress could base financial legislation, bids fair to be wound up by December 4th next. By unanimous consent the Senate agreed today to vote at 1:45 P. M. on the Cummins measure which calls on the commission to make its final report by the date named, and then cease to exist.

Former Senator Flint, of California, today resigned from the commission. Senator Bailey, of Texas, the only Democratic Senator on the body, resigned yesterday.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

Never before had the historic old St. Louis Hotel, near the famous French Market Place, contained such an assemblage of beautiful women and famous men. Here it was that Henry Clay made his only speech in Louisiana, and with matchless eloquence paid a glowing tribute to the beauty of Southern women. Before and after this banquet the guests sipped the famous French Market Coffee, as was the custom in those days. Then this famous beverage could be had only at the French Market. Now you may serve it at your own table, for the old French Market blend is perpetuated by

COTTON CLOSED VERY STEADY

Sharp Rally on Covering and Bull Support Followed Early Decline—Fluctuations More or Less Irregular.

New York, Aug. 12.—An early decline in the cotton market today was followed by a sharp rally on covering and bull support with the close very steady, net two points lower to four points higher.

The opening was steady at a decline of 7 to 14 points and during the first few moments the market showed a net loss of 9 to 15 points under liquidation and bar pressure encouraged by the weak showing of Liverpool reports that many Manchester mills were closing as a result of the labor trouble, talk of increasing domestic mill curtailment, private wires reporting scattered showers and lower temperatures in the Southwest and weakness in the stock market. The break to 11 cents for October and 10.98 for January carried the market into the lowest ground reached since the first big rally of last week, and there was active covering for over the week-end. Apprehensions of a gulf storm, based on the appearance of a low area off the Florida coast accompanied by a heavy rain at Pensacola, undoubtedly contributed to the uneasiness of the short interest as the market worked higher and following a rumor that the National Ginners' Association made the condition of the crop 83 per cent. and indicated a deterioration of 12 per cent. in the Texas outlook since the government figures were made up toward the end of last month, August sold up to a net advance of 9 points while new crop deliveries showed gains of from 1 to 3 points. Subsequent fluctuations were more or less irregular, but shorts seemed to prefer profit taking to carry their interest over Sunday in view of weather uncertainties and the talk of less favorable condition figures, and the close was only 2 or 3 points off from the best. Private cables from Liverpool said that the market there had been influenced by yesterday's late weakness on this side and a more serious view of the strike situation. Fall River curtailment for the week was estimated at 26,000 pieces.

Receipts of cotton at the ports today 6,000 bales against 1,027 last week and 4,873 last year; for the week 50,000 bales against 20,266 last week and 40,796 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 366 bales against 275 last year and at Houston 5,256 against 4,741 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet; middling uplands 12.40; middling gulf 12.65; no sales. Futures opened steady and closed very steady.

LOSSES IN STOCK MARKET

Prices Fell With Greater Precipitation Than at Any Previous Time in Present Movement—Union Pacific Weakest.

New York, Aug. 12.—With practically no cessation the stock market continued its purging process today. Prices fell with greater precipitation that at any previous time in the present movement and losses increased until they ran from 15 to 20 points compared with a fortnight back. As has been the case for days past, Union Pacific was again the weakest stock, opening with the greatest loss and yielding over four points in the first 30 minutes. The selling of this stock, which amounted to 102,000 shares in the first hour, was most persistent and gave rise to a variety of rumors which dealt in part with houses of international fame as well as with concerns and individuals of far less importance.

There were no known developments over night to which the renewed selling might be attributed, but the retirement of Mr. Frick from the Harriman directorates was again referred to as an indication of the attitude of the substantial interests. Added to this the market at no time today reflected any degree of support, even though prices touched a level which might seem attractive to investors.

The market rallied very generally from its low point before the end of the first hour, but this was followed by another movement in Union Pacific which sent that stock lower than before. At that level buying orders again lifted the list until some issues, notably United States Steel, were above the preceding day's closing. The volume of selling diminished perceptibly and the list for the first time bore signs of betterment.

The feature of the bank statement was actual decrease in loans of over $26,000,000, while the cash gain of about $5,000,000 was with popular estimates. Reserves increased by almost $9,000,000. The loan contraction, which was slightly larger in the average statement probably represents in a measure the drastic liquidation in stocks.

Bonds declined in sympathy with the stock market. Total sales par value were $1,610,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales for the day 651,100 shares.

Sarcastic Diner.

"Did you like your dinner?" asked the waiter.

"Like it?" echoed the guest. "Why, it made me feel like a boy again."

"Thank you, sir," smiled the waiter. "We aim to please in every detail, sir, and if you—"

"Yes, like a boy," continued the enthusiastic guest as if he had not noticed the interruption. "Spring lamb we had. I ate it. And if that was spring lamb I am still a boy. You have cut many years from my life."

others defended the treaties as in the interest of the march of progress, and all declared them innocent of the possibilities suggested.

The motion to report the treaties received the support of all the members present except Senators Culom and Burton, who cast their votes in the negative, on the theory that the President's wishes for delay in case of amendment should be complied with. On the vote, to amend, Senators Cullom, Burton and Root recorded in the negative.

Taft Keenly Disappointed.

Berkely, Mass., Aug. 12.—President Taft was keenly disappointed today to learn that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had decided to put the knife to the British and French general arbitration treaties and to report them to the Senate in modified form. The news was not unexpected, but the President had still hoped that the committee would accept the treaties without change.

In spite of the disappointment he felt over the changes in the treaties, which indicate the probability that they must go over to the next session, the President intends to keep up his fight to have the pacts accepted in full. Already he has lined up many senators friendly to the administration and when he returns to Washington on Monday he will continue his personal campaign. The President is scheduled to speak at a Methodist camp meeting at Ocean Grove, N. J., on Tuesday, and, while he has not written his address for that occasion, it seemed probable tonight that he would find opportunity there to refer to the Senate's action.

The President spent part of today at his desk in the Taft cottage looking over information which he expects to use on his return to Washington in writing veto messages. While he has never authorized a statement as to what bills he might veto, it is pretty clearly understood that the Statehood bill, the wool revision bill and probably the garmers' free list bill will feel the weight of executive disapproval.

NOT DEAD BUT ENTOMBED.

Frantic Efforts of Party to Rescue Entombed Miners.

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 12.—Working in relays and constantly urged on by faint tappings, a large party of rescuers are frantically digging into a mountain of coal and rock tonight to reach three entombed anthracite mine workers who were caught behind a heavy fall of rock at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in the East Colliery near Ashland.

When the fall occurred it was believed the men had been crushed to death or had died of suffocation and the mine officials set about in the ordinary way to dig out the bodies. While this work was in progress late last night a faint tapping was heard on the tracks over which mine cars are hauled. Investigation convinced the officials that it came from the men caught in the fall and extra help was quickly summoned.

Whether only one or all three of the men are alive cannot be determined, but the mine officials late tonight announced that they hoped to reach the men alive tomorrow morning.

The three imprisoned men are John Dolan, a miner, married with five children, and Anthony Thomassanner and Peter Zebeluskie, his laborers. They had completed their day's work and were on their way out of the mine when the roof over the gangway in which they were fell without warning.

NORFOLK PLAYERS WON.

Take Honors in Challenge Round at Omaha, Neb.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 12.—H. G. Whitehead and J. H. Winston, of Norfolk, today defeated Walter T. Hatch, of Chicago, and F. G. Anderson, of Brooklyn, in a challenge round of the National Clay Court Tennis Championship and thus become champions of the United States. The score was 6-3, 2-6, 7-5, 6-1.

It was the last match of the tournament. The Virginians entirely outclassed the title holders and there was hardly a moment when the result was in doubt. Other events of the day were the finals in the special cup match for the Updike solace cup and the consolations.

PEACE MAKER FATALLY SHOT.

James L. Polk Shot His Sister-in-Law at Pocomoke City.

Pocomoke City, Md., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Lawrence, of New York, was probably fatally shot here today by her brother-in-law, James L. Polk, of this city. Polk is tonight a fugitive in a swamp with a posse in pursuit.

While Polk was abusing his wife, her sister remonstrated with him. He seized a shot gun and fired twice at Mrs. Lawrence, both shots taking effect. He then beat his wife over the head with the gun and ran from the house with the weapon, saying he would not be taken alive.

"RED BUCK" REMINISCENT.

Tells Something of Alf Solomon, Southern Railway Engineer.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Two interesting North Carolinians were here this week. They are L. H. Clement, lawyer of Salisbury, and Alf Solomon, locomotive engineer of Charlotte. Mr. Solomon was accompanied by his daughter. One has to come to Washington and live to appreciate such men as Messrs. Clement and Solomon. They are the salt of the earth. Each has reached the top, or will reach it, in his particular line of endeavor.

Mr. Clement is one of the foremost men at the bar in North Carolina.

Mr. Solomon is as good an engineer as the country affords. He was one of the very few men that Capt. Ryder, former superintendent of the Charlotte division of the Southern Railway, used to pat on the back.

Louis Clement has grown children, yet he is a very young man. He is as handsome as Southern men get to be and that means that he is as beautiful as a Greek of old. With his ruddy face, his clear, bright eyes, and his magnificent iron-gray hair he looks the picture of health.

No man in the United States has enjoyed life more than Mr. Clement. He is educated, refined, well read, well informed, ready with his tongue, clever at telling stories, an admirer of pretty women and fine horses, a good judge of food and wine, a successful attorney, a man of thrift and means, and an all-round good fellow. More than half the time he laughs and the world laughs with him. Out of the court room or the law office he is the affable, joyful, mischievous gentleman. He plays practical jokes and takes the conceit out of the high and mighty. I have always lived in dread of his sending me an anonymous letter and chasing me across the continent on some wild goose chase.

Mr. Clement is one of three of the best dressed men in western North Carolina. The other two are Senator Overman and former Mayor A. H. Boyden. Salisbury is noted for its pretty women and handsome men and fitting clothes.

I saw Senator Overman and Mr. Clement walking on Pennsylvania avenue Thursday, and nobody else in sight looked half so well as they did. I was not close enough to speak, but kept an eye on them.

Alf Solomon is the sort of fellow that you like to ride behind on a fast train. When he is at the throttle one who knows him feels at ease.

"God bless Alf Solomon," I heard Mr. J. P. Caldwell say one day after Alf had been in a wreck. "He is the finest chap in the business."

One morning before day, when most good Southern people were asleep, Alf Solomon passed through Charlotte on his way south. His engine was well oiled, his steam up and his heart in the right place. His train carried a number of well filled Pullman cars. The engines that Alf drives do not tarry by the wayside, but glide smoothly and rapidly on.

"Take that train out of here, Alf," Capt. Ryder used to say when he had promised some party to make a certain point by a certain time, "and put it in —— on time."

Alf was the man that could do it.

On this particular morning, when the Winter winds were blowing, and skifts of snow falling, Alf went south at the rate of about a mile a minute. The cry of his whistle and the song of his wheels made a mournful sound.

Far down the line, somewhere in South Carolina, Alf's engine was taking a grade. In the distance a black object appeared on the track ahead. The keen and trained eye of the engineer saw it. His heart jumped into his throat; he recognized the something in the dark, it was a string of run-away freight cars that had slipped out of a station yard at the top of the hill five miles above.

This was a critical moment for Alf. Had he thought of himself he could have jumped and escaped. But Alf Solomon is not a coward. The old heart that rose out of place was forced back to its proper nook in the human system and Alf took a little tighter grip on the throttle.

The negro fireman stood at the opposite side of the engine from his master. Not a word was passed between the two. Alf had said to himself: "I must knock them off the track or they will wreck my train and kill my passengers."

The engine took on a little more speed. The flying cars came nearer. A moment later there was a terrific crash; five loaded freight cars lay by the track and the remains of a tremendous passenger engine were piled in the valley below. Beneath the wreck were scattered the fragments of a loyal negro fireman. Hardby, in a ditch of freezing water, lay Alf Solomon, the engineer, bruised and mashed, but still alive. Not a passenger was hurt; not a passenger coach derailed.

Some of the more thoughtful passengers made an excursion to see what had happened. They found Alf Solomon, in danger of drowning or freezing, lifted him out and wrapped him in blankets.

"I did not know how bad I was hurt," said Alf afterward, "but feared that it was all over. While I lay there, groaning, in the blankets, three old ladies came along. 'Poor fellow,' said one. 'He is not here for long.' The speaker leaned over and felt my chest above my heart, and shook her head."

Alf soon recovered and is as fine as ever. H. E. C. B.

GO TO CAMP PERRY.

Rocky Mount Furnises Two of State Rifle Team.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Aug. 11.—Rocky Mount will furnish two of the 15 men who will represent the State of North Carolina at the National Rifle matches on the government range at Camp Perry. Sergeant J. B. Winstead and Private H. L. Best, of Company C, Second Regiment, N. C. N. G., have won their places on the State team and are now practicing on the rifle range at Morehead City preliminary to their departure for Camp Perry. They will work at Morehead City eight days before going to the big shoot.

Special credit is due these two marksmen in that they make two men from Rocky Mount to land places on the Second Regiment team of only five men. Each of the three regiments in the State sends its five best shots as a team to Camp Perry.

MOUNT OLIVE NOTES.

Personals—Wayne County Barbecue and Watermelons.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Mount Olive, N. C., Aug. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Breazeale and Mr. and Mrs. Ben W. Southerland, and little Ben W. Southerland, Jr., left here yesterday on an automobile to visit at the former home of Mr. Breazeale at Anderson, S. C., where they will spend about two weeks before returning to Mount Olive.

Your complimentary editorial mention of Goldsboro and Mount Olive barbecue deserves special recognition by the epicurean friends of Mr. George W. Kornegay, colored, of Mount Olive, the champion and skilled barbecue cook, not only of Wayne county, but it might be truthfully said, of eastern North Carolina, for all who have tasted George's tender barbecue and good old fashioned corn bread will not only want to linger around here every day in the week, but will be glad to have some of it on hand for a big Sunday dinner. His reputation is not confined to Wayne county alone.

The present low price of luscious watermelons on the local market guarantees a daily feast for all who can enjoy and are addicted to the habit of eating the "sweet and juicy" meat of this Southern luxury, which knows no distinction between the millionaire and the pauper; and even "Uncle Joe" and Champ Clark say there is "none better."

TOGO BACK IN GOTHAM.

Japanese Admiral Enjoyed Moonlight Ride on Hudson.

New York, Aug. 12.—After a moonlight trip down the Hudson, on board the Mayflower, the President's yacht, Admiral Count Togo returned here tonight at 10 o'clock from West Point, greatly pleased with the signal honors accorded him at the Military Academy. His reception there was the most demonstrative that has been accorded him during his American visit. On his part, it was apparent that he was markedly impressed by the efficiency of the cadet corps and with the potential future usefulness of its members to the army into which they will graduate.

The admiral dined aboard the Mayflower tonight and sat on the quarter deck talking enthusiastically with Commander Taniguchi, his aide, of the splendid appearance of the cadets.

Tomorrow Admiral Togo and his party will travel in a special train from New York to Oyster Bay to lunch with Col. Theodore Roosevelt. The luncheon will be private. Ever since the close of the Russian-Japanese war Col. Roosevelt and Admiral Togo, said Commander Taniguchi tinight, have been in frequent correspondence and the invitation of Mr. Roosevelt was a direct result of the admiral's desire to meet the former President while touring the United States. The admiral returns to New York Monday.

MORGAN AND CARNEGIE.

To Appear Before Steel Committee Before Inquiry Closes.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Inquiry into the affairs of the United States Steel Corporation by a special committee of the House of Representatives, which has been in progress since May, was halted today, to be resumed in October. The committee voted a recess until October 16th, but it is probable that no public hearings will be held until a later date.

Several phases of the inquiry are yet to be developed and there are still on the list of witnesses two of the most prominent men in America, Andrew Carnegie and J. Pierpont Morgan. Mr. Carnegie last Spring just before he sailed for Europe, notified the committee that he would be glad to appear in the Fall and it is likely that he will be the first witness when the public session are resumed.

During the recess Chairman Stanley is to have headquarters in Washington and a force of assistants will be with him working up evidence to be submitted at the Fall hearings.

Today W. C. Temple, of Pittsburg, who was commissioner of several steel pools, testified. He denied the existence of illegal pools at the present time and declared that he regarded the United States Steel Corporation as a model trust.

FAST YACHTS MAY COME.

To Decide the Blue Ribbon Title of the Seas.

New York, Aug. 12.—Four of the fastest steam yachts in the world have been invited to take part in a race to decide the blue ribbon title of the seas, it was announced tonight. The boats that have been asked to compete are the Sovereign, built here this year for M. C. D. Borden; the Vittessi, built here last year for Gen. Brayton Ives; the Tarantula, the famed yacht of William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., built in 1902 in England, and the crude oil burning Winchester, built in England last year for Peter W. Rouss.

Each boat has a guaranteed speed of more than 32 miles an hour. The owner of each claims supremacy of the seas and as they have never met in a race, the question still has to be settled. The Atlantic Yacht Club is offering the prize and the race is arranged, will take place during the annual race week of the organization beginning August 22nd. In all probability the boats will be sent over the Sandy Hook course, made famous through many a race for the Americas cup.

Already Mr. Borden and Mr. Vanderbilt have accepted the invitation.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Representative Bell, of Georgia, has introduced a bill authorizing the establishment of a parcels post system in all rural delivery routes. The bill proposes that packages weighing not more than eight pounds shall be handled as fourth-class mail matter.

As it is probable that steps will be taken to dissolve the association at this meeting every stockholder is earnestly requested to be present.

"Make Your Own Luck"

Many people expect to become suddenly wealthy by some change of "luck."

Luck is a "rainbow", under which we stand in a vain effort to grasp both ends, hoping thereby to gain a pot of gold in each hand.

Such a vain endeavor is a picture of foolishness, but no more than the man who spends all his income and then grasps at "luck" with which to open a bank account.

The rainbow is a reflection of something DOING, and a bank account, or wealth, is the reflection of something DONE.

NEW SOUTHERN INDUSTRIALS

Quite a Number Reported to Manufacturers' Record for the Week —Big Undertaking at Several Points in South.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Baltimore, Aug. 12.—Reports to the Manufacturers' Record from all parts of the South show considerable activity during the past week in the announcement of industrial operations, the purchase of timber lands by Western capitalists, negotiations underway for large investments by German bankers in oil lands and other movements, indicating the Southward trend of investment capital. Among the new industrial interests and construction work reported for the week are the following:

The Western Maryland Railway, Baltimore, decided to begin construction of its proposed terminals and to provide extensive yard facilities, including laying 3 sets of tracks, erecting two piers at Port Covington and building warehouse at an estimated outlay of about $700,000.

The D. E. Hewitt Lumber Co., Huntington, W. Va., purchased 14,000 to 15,000 acres of Logan timber land in that State at $300,000 and expects to build $20,000 band saw mill to cut about 25,000 feet of lumber daily.

Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland and Cincinnati capitalists purchased 14,000 acres of timber land in Newton county, Texas, and are negotiating for 15,000 acres additional; it is reported that $850,000 or more will be invested.

International Harrow Co., Birmingham, Ala., organized with $500,000 and will install machinery costing about $10,000 to manufacture patented steel harrows.

C. E. Edwards, Charleston, W. Va., and George F. Miller, Huntington, W. Va., were reported as having purchased 60,000 acres of coal land at $600,000 for development.

German bankers are negotiating for 5,000 acres of gas and oil land and 15 to 20 gas and oil wells near Shreveport, La., the price being reported as $2,000,000; H. L. Heilperin, of Shreveport, is interested.

E. H. and J. A. Meadows Co., Newbern, N. C., awarded contract for 3-story 150x300 foot building and will erect 300-foot pier to deep water; the plant will have storage capacity of 50,000 tons and manufacturing capacity of 300 tons daily, for fertilizer and acid.

Tuscaloosa Cottonseed Oil Co., Tuscaloosa, Ala., will build fertilizer mixing plant costing $50,000.

Madison Fertilizer Co., Madison, Ga., will increase capital stock from $25,000 to $100,000 and erect building for fertilizer factory.

Williamsburg Development Co., of Williamsburg, S. C., recently incorporated with $150,000 capital stock, has organized and plans to drain and develop for agricultural purposes, 7,000 acres of cut-over land.

Senn Pressed Steel Hoe & Tool Co., Birmingham, Ala., selected location for $200,000 plant to have daily output of about 500 hoes, etc.

Gibbs Gas Engine Co., Jacksonville, Fla., was incorporated with $50,000 capital stock to build gas engines.

Southern Steel Products Co., Dallas, Texas, will erect 40x100-foot fireproof building and install machinery for manufacturing steel sash and other metal specialties.

Northern Hat & Cap Manufacturing Co., Richmond, Va., was incorporated with $25,000 stock.

Ridgeley Brothers, St. Petersburg, Fla., are having plans prepared for construction of re-inforced concrete buildings to be equipped for ice manufacturing and cold storage; cost from $50,000 to $60,000.

Mobile Paper Bag Co., Mobile, Ala., was incorporated with $10,000 capital to establish plant with daily capacity of 125,000 paper bags.

Frost-Johnson Lumber Co., Shreveport, La., will erect 36x104-foot building and install machinery for daily capacity of 50,000 feet of yellow pine lumber.

MADAM ELDON IS AGAIN IN THE CITY

Madame Eldon, who excited considerable interest in palmistry when on a visit here about a year ago, has come back to Wilmington on a return engagement and has established herself in the Odd Fellows' building, corner Third and Princess streets, up stairs.

Madame Eldon was visited at that time by many Wilmington folks, and some of her predictions created a good deal of comment, and much interest was shown in her work. She made a number of prophecies of coming events that have since come to pass and there are not a few Wilmington people who are relating incidents that come under this head and in which they were individually concerned.

THE FIRST 5,000,000 CITY

New York's Population Now Exceeds This Number—Regulation of Feminine Headgear—Former Governor Hughes Disguised.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, Aug. 12.—New York has just achieved the distinction of being the first city in the western hemisphere and the second in the world to pass the 5,000,000 mark in population. The margin by which this record was gained this week was not a wide one since according to the figures of the Board of Health the greater city now contains exactly 5,000,407 people.

This estimate is based on the official census taken in April last year which gave New York a population of 4,766,883, so that within a period of fifteen months there has been an increase of 233,574 equal to the population of a large sized city. Since 1898 when the population of New York was but 3,272,418 there has been an increase of 53 per cent. a striking record in itself. This great concentration of population has not been injurious to the health of New York's citizens, however. On the contrary figures for the last thirteen years show a falling off in the death rate. According to the figures of the Health Department for the past week the death rate was only a fraction over 14 to each one thousand inhabitants, which is one per cent. lower than the lowest record of the last thirteen years. The infant mortality among children less than one year of age was 156 in 1,000 as against 235 in the corresponding week for 1910. At the present rate of increase it is figured that New York will outstrip London and become the largest city in the world within the next twenty-five years.

Local milliners in particular and the feminine world in general are greatly perturbed over a law which has just been passed in the neighboring State of New Jersey. Indeed, it is likely that this perturbation will spread pretty well over the country so far as women are concerned as soon as its purport becomes known. In a word this law proposes to regulate feminine headgear. As a result local milliners fear a great curtailment of their trade, while bonnet wearers are confronted with the necessity either of going through the State of New Jersey bareheaded or wearing hats lacking the most highly prized decorations. Failing in this they are liable to a fine which may exceed the cost of the hat! This sad state of affairs has arisen from the fact that New Jersey has just passed a law prohibiting the wearing of the plumage of many kinds of birds imposing a fine of $20 for every violation. It is still safe to decorate the hat with feathers taken from the sparrows, hawks, crows and the like, but all the more popular varieties are barred. Not only will this make it easy to recognize feminine New Jersey when she comes to New York, but it is also likely to cause all sorts of unpleasant complications. A person may leave home by auto or train hatted entirely within the law, but should that auto or train enter Jersey the wearer of the headgear containing any of the forbidden plumage is liable to fine. Likewise passengers on incoming steamers landing in Jersey soil may find themselves in an unpleasant predicament. Milliners predict that this law will bring about a new style of feminine headgear. They also predict that it will not be beautiful.

Only the most intimate acquaintances of former Governor Hughes recognized him in Justice Hughes of the United States Court on his arrival here this week to preside at the hearings which are being held in connection with postal affairs. Casual friends and acquaintances passed him by without a word and even former business associates did not know him. There was no political or personal animus in their acts, however, for the former governor was thoroughly disguised. The luxuriant beard parted in the middle and brushed to each side which had formerly made him the mark of cartoonists during two hot campaigns was lacking, having been trimmed to a mere suggestion of its former self and changing the looks of the man completely. Nor was his altered appearance the only surprise of the early hearings since one of the assistant postmaster generals took pains to explain in spite of the general belief to the contrary that only a part of the cost charged against mail transportation actually went to the railroads, a large portion being expended in other ways, under the broadest application of the term. This statement coming on top of the recent announcement by the department of the discovery of the fact that many railroads are being underpaid for the carrying of the mails is taken as significant. The carriers have been praying for a readjustment of the scale of pay which will at least wipe out their present loss on this service, and testimony of this sort from postal officials themselves promises to have an important bearing in bringing about an early cor-

GOSSIP OF FOREIGN CAPITALS

London, Aug. 12.—David Lloyd-George, the chancellor of the exchequer, has had, for him, a unique experience. On no less than two occasions recently he has had the unanimous support of the entire press of the United Kingdom, the majority of which usually has few kind words to say of him at least politically. His all night fight against the labor members of the House of Commons, over an amendment to the insurance bill proposed by a labor member whereby the State would have had to assume the greater financial responsibility and the workers' contributions would have been correspondingly less, was hailed in the Unionist papers as "a triumph for Lloyd-George."

His firmness on this occasion was the subject of innumerable editorials, all very flattering. Similar treatment was accorded his speech before the bankers, in which he delivered his now famous warning to Germany over the Moroccan crisis. The fact is that Mr. Lloyd-George, formerly looked upon as a hard fight politician, has forced recognition of himself as a sincere and serious statesman, his experience in this respect being much the same as that of John Burns, one time labor leader and strike promoter, who now commands the respect of men on both sides of politics.

GOSSIP OF FOREIGN CAPITOLS

The chancellor's personality has had much to do with his advance in favor with the more seriously-minded of his fellow countrymen. As he has become better known among politicians, they have found him a most charming and interesting companion, who except when forced into a fight, which he loves as well as any man, takes things smilingly and genially and by good humor, backed by firmness, wins where another minister could make no headway. He is far from being a strong man, physically, but as shown in his fight against the labor party on the insurance bill issue, he still has lots of fight left in him. This fighting quality also wins him many friends in England.

Another cabinet minister much in the public eye lately is Sir Edward Grey. There has been a tendency earlier in the year to rather severely criticise his foreign policy, which was not considered firm enough. The negotiations over the arbitration treaty with America and the firm language which he and his colleagues have used over the Moroccan crisis, have tended to rehabilitate the foreign secretary, who, until last winter, had generally received support, even when the government was under fire.

Since the death of his wife, just after his appointment as chief of the foreign office, Sir Edward has led a lonely life, and is seldom at social gatherings, with the exception of those of a diplomatic nature, at which his position demands his presence. As is well known, he spends all his spare time fishing. However, he inspires confidence in his staff and is loyally supported by them. His admiration for James Bryce, the British minister in Washington, is unbounded.

In official circles here the change in public opinion of America, which made the Anglo-American arbitration treaty possible, is largely credited to Mr. Bryce, and for the success in the negotiations in this, as in the questions between America and Canada and Newfoundland on the British side, Sir Edward Grey has privately given the British Ambassador in Washington the lion's share of the praise.

Publishers of the lighter form of illustrated literature in England are feeling the effects of the opening of innumerable moving picture theatres throughout the country. The boys and girls are spending their pennies at the theatre instead of for the penny papers. One very large firm, which besides publishing some of the more important of English papers, issues at least a hundred other publications, established first one and then a series of penny illustrated papers for boys, one coming out each day.

The circulation of these papers had reached nearly 400,000, and the proprietors were making a profit of $200,000 a year. As the picture theatres became more general, particularly in the country districts and smaller towns, the circulation commenced to fall until now it is less than 100,000 and the profits have been about wiped out.

An investigation showed that the boys who formerly bought the papers now spend their pennies at the theatres, where there is a daily change of programme.

Rome, Aug. 12.—Although greater disasters have since befallen Italy, no one has forgotten the constrenation experienced when it was learned that the great Campanile of Venice had fallen. That was nine years ago, on July 14, 1902, and the rebuilding is only now approaching completion, though there is so little to do that it may be considered to be again a perfect whole.

Next year the Biennial International Art Exhibition will be opened, and at the same time the Venetians will be celebrating the fete of St. Mark, their patron Saint, so that it has been decided to put off the inauguration of the Campanile until that period.

It would be difficult in America, where buildings come and go, to appreciate what that tower meant to the Venetians. It epitomized their history, and was a visible reminder of their past greatness and that what has been done can be done. It began as a watch-tower in the dim ages before the Christian world was in its teens, developed into a bell-tower, its bells ringing at the first hint of danger, and was latterly considered a church-tower, a part of St. Marks Cathedral. But it was more than a tower, it was a work of art, as its foot was adorned by the wonderful Loggia of Sansovino, and its head was crowned by the beautiful belfry wherein hung the historic bells.

Today it stands just as it was before, a reincarnation so wonderful as to almost seem a miracle. The day after the fall there was nothing but a rubbish heap to mark the site, but that rubbish heap presented great possibilities. Out of it came many whole bricks which were re-used and served as models for the new. The angel, which had stood on the top, was uninjured, but of the Loggia nothing remained but minute particles which were carefully put aside. Over these one man worked for years, reconstructing the famous terracotta of the Madonna and Child with St. John, out of 2,000 fragments, which now make so perfect a whole that the patchwork must be pointed out to be detected, but unfortunately the St. John was so reduced to dust that the group now lacks this figure. The bronze statues, and the famous gates, have been restored and are now finished, the whole Loggia is in place, and Venetians begin to think that the collapse was a bad dream.

The bells were badly damaged ,only one of the five escaping injury. The others have been recast at the expense of Pope Pius X. Upon the largest of the four recast ones, there is an inscription setting forth that the Pope has had them done, with a fac-simile of his signature "Pius X. P. P." Their first peal was recorded by a gramaphone which was sent to the Pontiff and which he appreciated highly, remarking on their clear sound. He was Patriarch of Venice when the Campanile collapsed, and it was in his presence and under his benediction that the corner-stone was laid, but the inauguration will have to be without his physical presence, although he will send a representative and his blessing.

Rome has slowly, as money was at hand, been isolating her treasures of the past, and, if not restoring, as the charm of many would be spoiled if touched, at least strengthening and preserving them.

In this way the glorious Baths of Diocletian have been reclaimed and some of the Forums joined. Now it is the moment of the mediaeval towers, and particularly that called "of the Militie," on the slope of the Quirinal hill. Several have been restored and are in an absolute state of preservation such as the Anguillara, which has a fortified house attached and is the best example of mediaeval architecture in the Eternal City; Torre della Scimmia, known to Americans as "Hilda's Tower," as it was here that Hawthorne's heroine met her doves; and others scattered here and there almost as thick as the leaves at Valombrosa. However, up to now the most important of these interesting structures Torre delle Milizie and Tor de' Conti, have been left untouched and unnoticed, probably because they are in rather inaccessible places.

As one goes up the slope and turn of the very modern Via Nazionale he is confronted on the right by a long, monotonous, low building used as a barracks, and just opposite by the unique hanging gardens of the Aldobrandini family. Behind the barracks rises a massive edifice in two divisions, the Milizie Tower (Tower of the Militia), while down a precipitous slope hard by is the Torre del Grillo (Tower of the Cricket), where the story runs, one of the family of that name being forbidden by the Pope to throw rocks down on the heads of passing Jews, asked if he might at least throw nuts. Having had an amused permission from the Pontiff he dispatched several more of his enemies by hurling down pine cones, in Italy as hard as any stone, and containing inside a kernel. A few yards beyound is the Tor de' Conti, so large that it is rented in flats as an apartment house.

The Tower of the Milizie is now in the court of a convent, has before it a barracks, at one time a monastery, and a church. These are the property of the State and will be done away with, leaving a full view of the tower, tall and severe in all its grandeur, and the ruins of the Baths of Paliari, with a large and magnificent panorama of the Forum of Trajan and the new monument to Victor Emanuel.

BENEFITS OPERATORS

Three Per Cent. Bonus for Hard Coal Miners.

New York, April 12.—For their work during the month of July, 1911, the mine workers in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania receive an increase of three per cent. on the rate of wages by the Anthracite Strike Commission of 1902. The increase is applied to the August payroll.

This bonus is in accord with the Commission's decision that, in addition nto the general advance of 10 per cent. in wages, there should be a further increase of 1 per cent. for every advance of five cents above $4.50 in the average tidewater price of the domestic sizes of coal. As the average price was $4.65 in July, this entitles the mine workers to 3 per cent. more pay for the month. This applies to all classes of employes.

In the Fall and Winter months the bonus is much larger—sometimes 7 or 8 per cent—but in the Summer the price of coal is lower and therefore the bonus for the mine workers is smaller.

THE PANAMA CANAL ZONE.

Is Having Public Land Troubles—Features.

Washington, Aug. 11.—The Panama Canal zone, like continental United States, is having its public land troubles. Squatting on public and private lands is growing to an appreciable extent, especially among men at work on the waterway and the canal commission is at its wits end to find a remedy. As a step to meet the situation the commission has posted an order throughout the zone making it a misdemeanor for any person to cut down or injure timber on these lands and requiring a permit from the government land agent to occupy public lands.

It has been the custom in Panama for any one who wished to cultivate land to clear it and begin farming without regard to its ownership. The practice recently has extended to not a few of the canal laborers, largely negroes who have left the works for this easy life.

MUST PAY FOR PAPER.

Court Holds That When Subscriber Takes Paper He Must Pay.

Taking a paper out of the post office makes the recipient liable for the bill. Dr. Austin, a Butler (Mo.) publisher, sent his paper to Charles Burge. The latter paid for it twice and then refused to pay for it again. He said he ordered it stopped. But the Court of Appeals holds that mere acceptance of the paper created a liability. It added:

"The preparation and publication of a newspaper involves much mental and physical labor as well as an outlay of money. One who accepts the paper by continuously taking it from the post office receives a benefit and pleasure arising from larbor and expenditure as fully as if he had appropriated any other product of another's labor, and by such act he must be held liable for the subscription price."

Always Use Right Hand.

With his left hand he took pipe and tobacco from his pocket and with his right hand he felt for a match. He had none. His fellow idler at the other end of the park bench gave him a match and then let his own cigar go out in his astonishment at seeing his left-handed neighbor light his pipe with his right hand.

"That's funny," said he. "You are just about the most confirmed left-hander I ever met, yet for that little trick you use your right hand as if born to it."

"All left-handed people do," was the reply. "Just think over the list of your smoking acquaintances and see if you ever knew one who lit his pipe with his left hand. I'll bet you didn't. I never did, and I have numbered among my pipe-loving friends several men whose right hand seemed nearly helpless for everything else."

HITS MODERN WOMAN

SHE DOESN'T KNOW MEANING OF ROMANTIC LOVE.

So Asserts Alexander Harvey, Who Says He Almost Thinks the Women of Today Have All Gone Crazy.

How will the modern woman movement affect romantic love?

Alexander Harvey, editor and author, answers the question by declaring the woman who walks forward treads upon divine law and the heart of man in her progress. He said:

"The modern woman movement is really the new immorality.

"True love does not come between a man and a woman until after marriage and the birth of a child.

"Women never have understood and never will understand the laws of either love or morality.

"The theory of conscious eugenics, which is one of the by-laws of the modern woman movement, is the supreme obscenity of today."

"Just what do you mean in your characterization of the modern woman movement?" I asked.

"Just what does the modern woman mean by the movement?" queried Mr. Harvey in turn. "Sometimes I think the woman of today have all gone crazy. When you ask them what they want when they cry for personal equality and the vote, they do not know themselves.

"But I will tell you what they want. I will tell you at what the modern woman movement is aimed. It is aimed at the sacredness of the marriage relation. It upholds divorce, and that supreme obscenity of the present day which women call conscious eugenics. Women have never understood true morality, and they never will. The divine laws were made by God, the father and the man, for men. And when you say a woman cannot understand morality, it follows logically that she cannot understand love.

"The old-fashioned woman, the womanly woman, whose heart and brain were molded by the man she loved, was at least a source of comfort to her husband. He did grow to love her. But let me assure you that the modern woman, with her talk of mental and economic equality, will never learn the real meaning of romantic love."—Ethel Floyd Patterson in the New York World.

Into His Own at Last.

A romantic life story is that of Franz Lehar, the composer of "The Count of Luxenburg," which was witnessed by the king and queen the other night, says the London Mail. Lehar is the son of a poor Hungarian farmer and a man who has known what it is to faint in the streets from hunger. When his father deserted husbandry for soldiering the baby Lehar became what is called a "knapsack child"—one of those children who follow their parents from garrison to garrison. He composed his first song at the age of six and had the precocious grace to dedicate it to his mother. At twelve he was trying to maintain himself and then it was that he fell fainting in the street. Even when he began to write opera he made poor financial progress. "At last," he says, "I turned my hand to operettas. With these I had more luck." This last sentence modestly sums up the furore his lighter music created in Europe and America.

English Girl's Tragic Fate.

The startling case of a North London (Eng.) girl who has contracted leprosy contains elements of tragic interest. The dreadful disease was contracted by the victim wearing, as part of a fancy dress costume, a wig of eastern origin. Some time ago she went to a fancy dress ball. The costume, that of a Chinese lady—was pronounced perfect in every detail. Unfortunately the wig she wore was only too real. It came from the east. About a week after a strange mark appeared on her forehead and she consulted a specialist, who found that she was suffering from leprosy. She has now been removed to a leper colony. Diligent inquiries were made to discover the antecedents of the wig, and it now has been found that it had at one time been worn by a leper.

Heat as a Family Doctor.

A dry, steady warmth applied in the right place is often the greatest help in relieving pain and treating diseases. Not until the electric blanket was successfully operated did the disadvantages of the hot water bottle, such as its weight, uneven heat and so on become prominent. The electric blanket has passed from the experimental stage to that of a practical necessity. Not only this, but it is made in many different shapes so as to be most convenient for special uses, as for a chest and back pad, cap, collar, sweating jacket, etc. In its soft elderdown cover the warming pad or blanket is the ideal comforter and the foe of pain. Control is arranged so as to give a low, medium or high temperature by the turn of a switch.

Found a Job.

"What's your husband so ugly about."

"He's been out of work six weeks."

"I should think that would suit him first rate!"

"That's it! He's just got a job today!"—Meggendorfer Blaetter.

Shoes of Snake Skin.

Shoes made of snake skin are worn by many ultra fashionable English women this year.

Such real estate has already reached a high valuation that does not permit of the tremendous profits possible as when the purchase price is small. In short, fortune smiles on those who have enough foresight to buy property while the price is small and the payments easy—those who can see things as they will be in two or three years.

THE WEEK AT LUMBERTON

Busy Talking Town Affairs—Building Improvements Delayed—Rowland Is Developing Fast—New Paper at Hamlet.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 12.—This being about the dullest month in the year, our people have lots of time to cuss and discuss town affairs The question of what lands the town owns is coming in for its share of discussion. One of the leading attorneys says he has been tracing back over 100 years, and if there is any record of where the town has ever disposed of the lands in question, he can't find it.

He says that the land from the power plant down to the river at a point below the Seaboard, belongs to the town, and that some of the parties who now claim it knew it was town property when they purchased it from those who could not give a good title. It is said now that a part of the town standpipe is in the street, as is also a part of the Jewish Synagogue and the Millsap House near Seventh and Elm streets. The Gospel Tabernacle between the Synagogue and the Millsap House is said to be to the right of the line. While in conversation with one of the town commissioners he stated most emphatically that he was in favor of and should stand for the town taking what belonged to it, and giving others what belonged to them.

Thursday afternoon, Mr. K. M. Biggs, one of the leading business men of the town, was calling on citizens with a petition for signatures, asking them to take steps to remedy the closet trouble. One of the first things the present administration did was to condemn the public closets at the foot of Fourth street on the river bank. This was done without any provision for a substitute whatever. Last Monday the County Commissioners ordered the closets there to be closed to the public except during court week. It's up to the town to do something.

It is said that several people in the country have been told that Lumberton now had a tax on everything that was offered for sale, and many of them believing the statement to be true were disposing of what they had to sell at other places instead of bringing it to town. It is said that one man brought in a load of watermelons and some one frightened him about the taxes to that extent that he actually carried his melons home, declaring that he lived nearly as close to another town as to Lumberton, and that when he came here again it would be a cold day in August. Such fun as that is more foolish than funny, and should be stopped. Such reports go in some cases, no doubt, from the fact that two or three farmers residing two or three miles from town have to pay a privilege tax of $5 per year for selling milk.

Dr. McPhaul has been having all kinds of trouble in changing the front of his drug store. A day or two after the glass had been put in the large display window it split wide open from top to bottom. When the beautiful marble, about 2 feet wide, to be used around the bottom of the large window arrived, two pieces of that was found to be broken in two places. In the meantime, one or two show cases had been broken, and Lumberton still has an open all-night drug store.

Mr. E. M. Hale, for some time with the Robeson Advance, and Mr. B. S. Edwards, formerly with the Burlington News, are arranging to establish a new paper at Hamlet, the first issue to be printed about September 1st. The paper will be a six-page, 6 column weekly, bearing the name of "The Hamlet News." These gentlemen are both practical printers and with the opportunity they have at Hamlet, should make it a big success.

Thursday, August 24th, is the time and Lumberton the place at which the county re-union of the Confederate veterans will be held. It is expected that there will be a large crowd in town that day and it is hoped that everything will be done that can be that will in any way add to the pleasure and comfort of the visitors.

It was our pleasure to spend Tuesday in the thriving town of Rowland, and if it continues to grow for the next five years as it has for the past five, it is going to be a young city. A fellow doesn't stay there long before he feels at home—the people there just make him feel so by genuine cleverness. The citizens of Rowland are very enthusiastic over the prospect of another railroad. They have been promised the new road in time to haul fertilizers for next season. There are now four or five brick business buildings being erected, and we are told work would begin on another next Monday. One of the buildings is being erected for Mr. A. L. Bullock and is 90 feet front by 120 feet deep, two stories high. This building will be occupied by Mr. Bullock alone, as he does an immense mercantile business and needs plenty of room. But Rowland needs another hotel. Mrs. Reedy, who operates the only hotel there, takes good care of her guests, but she has not sufficient room.

Mr. Frank Jones, probably 40 years old, was painfully injured at the plant of the Kingsdale Lumber Co., where he was employed Thursday morning. While engaged about the mill a log rolled upon him bruising him badly but fortunately no bones were broken. Dr. Johnson was called to the injured man and conveyed him in his automobile to his home near the National Mill, where at last reports he was doing well.

According to Dr. W. A. McPhaul's July report to the county commissioners, there were in the county during the month, 20 cases of smallpox, 10 cases of measles, 50 cases of whooping cough, 6 cases of diphteria, 30 cases of typhoid, 3 cases of pneumonia and 15 cases of pellagra. Remarkably few deaths have occurred.

Good headway is being made in paving the sidewalks on North Elm street. All the work done so far is six feet and while it was only intended that it should be four feet, it seems now that most of the property owners are in favor of making it six feet all the way to 14th street. Those who do not make it six feet will always regret it.

While the postoffice is being greatly improved in other ways, the service has been improved by the addition of another clerk, in the person of Mr. Clifton Balke. The whole county might have been searched over, but a better young man for the place could not have been found. The position of trust has been bestowed upon one who is in every way worthy of it.

Presiding Elder McCullen will preach at the Metaodist church tomorrow at 11 A. M. and 8:15 P. M. Quarterly conference will be held on Monday night, at 8:15 o'clock.

The building occupied by the Freeman Printing Company has been greatly improved by having two windows put in the north side. The new windows will not only give much more light in the building but will also make it much cooler.

Workmen are engaged in tearing down and rebuilding the southwest corner of the Caldwell & Carlyle block. The foundation seems to have been giving way there for some time and had reached the point where the proprietors decided to have it repaired before getting any worse.

We were told by a dealer one day this week that on last Saturday no less than $1,250 was paid out here for cross-ties to people who are cutting and hauling them in from all directions. Ties are bringing good money and many people are engaged in the business.

Jake Rogers, colored, swore out a warrant for the porter on the R. & C. yesterday morning for allowing his chickens to run at large. The porter paid something over $3 and costs.——Seaboard Engine No. 525 is now pulling the passenger train between here and Marion, S. C. That looks like Seaboard.

During the past week two or three raccoons have been caught in steel traps a short distance below Lumberton Cotton Mills, while eating green corn. They are said to be playing havoc with the growing corn in the low grounds near the river swamp. A couple of gentlemen went fox hunting one night this week and caught four large possums. They were carried to another locality and set free.

Mr. H. M. Edens, of Georgetown, Texas, was a Lumberton visitor Wednesday. Mr. Edens arrived from Texas Sunday, stopping with his brother, Prof. H. L. Edens, at Pembroke. Mr. Edens left Bennettsville, S. C. for Texas, November 29th 1877, and this is his first visit to his old home. His visit here Wednesday was his first to Lumberton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Skipper left yesterday for Lynchburg, Va., where they will visit the family of Rev. A. E. Baker, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church.——Mr. C. P. McAllister has been spending several days this week at Jackson Springs——Mr. A. T. Parmele left yesterday morning for Newton to visit his family, who are spending some time there.

Miss Rosetta Shannon, of Wilmington, is visiting Miss Grace Redmond on Fifth street.——Mrs. T. W. Bullock and little daughter, and Miss Ada Arnette, left this week for Rutherforditon where they will spend several weeks——Mr. J. F. Skamell spent Sunday in Raleigh.

Mr. Hugh McCutchen, of Kingstree, S. C., visited his sister, Mrs. J. P. Russell, this week. Mr. McCutchen is president of the Wee Nee Bank, of Kingstree, and one of the most enterprising citizens in that section of South Carolina, being interested in several different successful enterprises.

Mr. W. O. S. Sutherland arrived from Wilmington this morning to visit the Messrs. Phillips, four miles from town. Mr. Sutherland came from Scotland nine months ago, and expresses himself as being much pleased with what he has seen of this country.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Baker and daughters, Misses Lillie and Bertha, left this morning for Asheville, where they will spend several days——Rev. C. H. Durham and children left this morning for Henderson. The children will reamain there with relatives while Mr. Durham spends his vacation visiting the great lakes of the North. They will return about September 1st.

Mr. J. M. Russell, son of Capt. and Mrs. J. P. Russell, arrived from Augusta, Ga., this week, where he has been engaged in civil engineering. After spending a month with his parents Mr. Russell will go to Atlanta where he will attend a textile college.

Sheriff McNeill has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness as to be able to sit up a part of the time.

Information was received here from Hamlet last night to the effect that Engineer Stagner, of the Seaboard, was terribly scalded yesterday as a result of the blowing out of a plug of the engine which he was running between Hamlet and Raleigh. Mr. Stagner is a native of this county having been reared near Bellamy. His many friends in that section hope his injuries are not serious.

SHARPENING SENSE OF SMELL

English School Monitor Discovers Way to Increase Sensitiveness of Olfactory Nerves.

Woman's sense of smell is well known to be sharper than is the sense of smell in man, broadly speaking, disregarding occasional variations in individuals. But man's ingenuity has enabled him to offset this defect in a most simple manner.

In a certain English boys' school, a man monitor has charge of rooms and dormitories, reporting upon surreptitiously introduced wines, ales and tobaccos. Cigarettes are tabooed without chance of apology. To discover these odors has been one of the prime duties of the monitor. And in doing so he has chanced upon a most effective scheme.

He carries with him on his rounds a glass of water. Entering a room where suspected odors may be in nasal evidence, he dips a finger in the water and moistens his nostrils freely. In a moment the odor of stale tobacco or of ales or wines strikes his olfactories with a hammer blow. In explanation the monitor says that as the sense of taste is slight unless the substance be in solution, either through water or by mastication, it occurred to him that his sense of smell might be quickened by a watered nose. He says that he can discover in strong degree odors that, without wetting the nose, are imperceptible.

What do you know about that?

DOG'S EYE GRAFTED ON MAN'S

That a person totally blind from ophthalmia, even from birth, can be made to see by having a portion of a dog's eye grafted on his own was the startling communication made by Doctor Borsch, an American oculist at present in Paris, in a paper read before the meeting of the French Ophthalmia society a few days ago.

Doctor Borsch explained that as a result of blindness from ophthalmia, as also from some other causes, the cornea, which is the transparent membrane in front of the eye, becomes opaque and in such a case the only chance of restoring sight is to replace the defective cornea by a healthy one.

To perform this feat, Dr. Borsch first operates on a dog and lays back from its eye the conjunctivea or skin of the eyeball surrounding the cornea. He removes a portion of the latter and places it aside in blood serum. He then performs the same operation on the patient's eye, removing part of the front of the eye of the same size as the cornea taken from the animal.

The dog's cornea is now placed in position on the human eye and secured with stitches of the finest possible silk, the surrounding skin, which had been laid back, being brought into place over the edge of the cornea and also sewn.

The new graft unites with the eye in a few days, aided by a temporary glass cover to keep it in shape and injections of serum to stimulate vitality.

NEW KIND OF INFANT SCHOOL

"Three R's" Are Cut Out and Children Are Taught to Be Happy Instead.

The man in the club had been talking politics with a school inspector, until the gentleman declined to discuss the subject any more.

"We'll talk about the youngsters themselves, for a change," he said. "Do you know that both in France and Belgium reading, writing and arithmetic are being omitted from the subjects taught in infant school? The children are simply taught to be happy instead! And when they bring their dinners to school, the food has, under the official regulations, to be put into a basket, which must be labeled at the school, and put on a special shelf in a clean, airy place. Fancy such regulations here! Any old newspaper and any cupboard is good enough for our children.

"In Germany, toys are provided for play time, and all little children are compelled to bring a clean pocket handkerchief to school, and they must have a bath once a week.

"In Finland, the tiniest children are taught to wash dolls, dust, sweep, look after flowers, and so on; and in some Japanese schools a resting room with a bed is provided, so that over tired children may have a nap!"—Answers, London.

True Enlightenment.

"When we get enlightened we find that the way to attain harmony with God is by conforming ourselves to him, not by seeking to conform him to us. By and by we find that there is a God of infinite perfection in power, wisdom, justice, love and holiness; and then we find that God needs no instruction, for he is all wise, and before the beginning he knew all which would happen in the history of the human race. He needs no appeasing to alter his affection, for he is all love and has an infinite desire to confer the highest possible or conceivable blessing on the whole human race, and on each individual thereof. When we come to this conclusion we take pains to bring ourselves into harmony with God. All sacrifice disappears; all mutilation of the flesh or spirit, all ceremonies which do not grow out of the natural wants of mankind."—Theodore Parker.

His Garter Upside Down.

The late duke of Devonshire, who was very careful in everything, once entertained King Edward VII. at a ball at Devonshire house, which was the talk of London. As his majesty went away, he complimented the duke on the magnificent manner in which everything had been done and the way in which the evening had passed off. He said he could not suggest any change for the better, save in one little thing, which he hoped his grace would not mind his mentioning. "What is it, sir?" inquired the duke with much anxiety. "Pray tell me."

"You have got your garter on upside down," replied the king.

Waste Paper to Buy Organ.

A novel plan has been adopted by the parishioners of Hanwell (Eng.), in order to raise funds for a new church organ. The members of the congregation are now saving all their waste paper, which will be collected from time to time and sold in aid of the fund.

IN LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

Spend Five Million for Music—Dissolving the Standard Oil—Fifth Avenue Millionaires War Against Business.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, Aug. 12.—That the music bill of this city for the coming season will approximate $5,000,000, far exceeding any similar expenditure on record here or abroad, is now indicated by the preparations underway for the greatest musical season ever known. Ten years ago the sum spent in this way amounted to hardly more than $1,000,000. What it will amount to in another decade in view of the ever-increasing demand for music of every character is merely a matter of conjecture. In spite of this great expenditure, however, music has not yet become a generally popular form of entertainment as is indicated by the fact that the greated part of the $5,000,000 which it is estimated will be spent in the five months after the middle of next October for opera, symphony concerts and other forms of musical entertainment will come from a nucleus of music patrons numbering less than 25,000 or less than one per cent. of the city's total population. Probably not more than one person in five hundred ever attends the opera although concerts of various sorts are more widely patronized. Just why New Yorkers will have to foot such an enormous bill for their musical entertainment is indicated by the salaries paid to the artists. A really famous operatic singer receives as much as $2,500 for a single performance, while symphony orchestra leaders are paid as much as $30,000 for a season lasting only four months. Many of these concerts and recitals fail to earn anything. In one case during the past musical season just ten seats were sold for a really meritorious concert. Eventually, however, the public foots the bill but whether it can really enjoy the $5,000,000 worth of music which it will absorb next season remains to be seen.

One of the most intricate pieces of book-keeping ever attempted will shortly begin here as a result of the decision of the Supreme Court ordering the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company. The task involves the pro rata division among stockholders of the present company of all its holdings in the various companies of which it is made up. At first it was believed that there would be about 125 of these necessitating the exchange for each share of stock in the Standard of fractional shares in each one. The number has now been reduced to 35. But even so the task of exchanging the proper amount of each of these securities for each share of the present company is a job which would make an actuary of an insurance company throw up his hands, and the present day owner of one share of Standard stock may soon find himself possessed of all sorts of fractions of snares in each of the thirty-five companies. Furthermore, the holdings of the parent organization in some of the minor companies amounts to only a few thousand dollars and were a division to be attempted in such cases the amount distributed in exchange for each share would be microscopical. What will become of these smaller holdings has not yet been indicated. It is supposed, however, that they will either be disposed of or merged with some of the thirty-five companies. Meanwhile, the officers of the subsidiary companies will have a big job signing stock certificates, one of which will be many times worse than the job of the president of a national bank in signing bank notes.

The aristocracy of wealth which has long considered Fifth Avenue as the only really fashionable residential district is greatly agitated over the possibility that the famous thoroughfare, on which it has been said that it is impossible to throw a stone without hitting a millionaire, is to become a street of shops and factories. As a matter of fact, this possibility has been assuming the shape of a probability for years, although society has only just awakened to the fact. As a result there promises to be a merry war involving hundreds of millions of dollars with greatly inflated values between the present residents and holders of the properties along the famous avenue on the one side and the encroaching commercial interests on the other Already Fifth Avenue is practicall a business street as far north as Forty Second street, the residences remaining south of this line being far less numerous than the commercial establishments to the north of it, with the business encroachments steadments steadily increasing. Curiously enough the matter is likely eventually to end in a drawn battle, since Fifth Avenue in itself being without transportation lines offers no real attraction to merchants. The one cause of their invasion is its fashionable name and the value which this gives to a Fifth Avenue address. But as soon as this street loses its present identity as the center of wealth and fashion, and becomes over commercialized, this value is likely to disappear at least to a large extent. At present, however, the struggle is took keen for serious consideration of such a possibility.

That Father Knickerbocker is a very poor chauffeur or that his automobiles are peculiarly expensive so far as maintenance is concerned was brought to light this week by the compilation of figures which show that the annual cost of up-keep of the one hundred cars in use in the various city departments is nearly equal to the original cost. The exact figures show that the city's autos cost $220,505, or an average of $2,205 each, and that their repairs during the past year totalled $176,570 or $1,764 each. Even for prodigal Father Knickerbocker the figures are absurdly high and there are likely to be some very interesting revelations during the investigation which will attempt to place the blame and remedy the situation. Undoubtedly the two chief factors which cause the city autos to eat their heads off, so to speak, at such an astonishing rate are joy-riding and graft in repair charges. The records show that cars are continually kept out, when they are supposed to be in the garages and that in some cases the labor of the men making repairs has been charged for at the rate of $3 an hour. Altogether it would be much cheaper for the city to rent cars as they are needed and it is possible that such a policy may be adopted provided the opposition of the persons who get free joy-rides and fat repair graft is not too powerful.

Miss Liberty who has adorned the New York harbor for so long, will either have to retire from public view or have a new dress, for a careful investigation has revealed the fact that there are nearly fifty holes of varying size in her present costume of bronze plates. The statue is built up of these bronze plates which are very thin and which are held in place by steel frame work which is still as strong as could be wished. An army engineer recently made a close examination of the statue—they look it over that way once a year—and found that there were just about fifty small holes in the bronze plates of which the statue is built. These holes come usually in folds and are in spots where the plates always were a bit thinner than the general run of the statue. They also appear seemingly on the more exposed sides. There is no immediate danger for the Goddess, however. Her chief caretaker, Lieut. Jones, says that she is good for 100 years yet and maybe longer just as she is and, moreover, Lieut. Jones doesn't see why it is not possible to replace from time to time some of the plates which have become more rapidly disintegrated than others. So after all Miss Liberty will probably have to get along with her old dress made over.

PRINTERS' HEALTH.

Their International Union Prosecutes its Campaign to Conserve.

The volume containing the reports of the officers of the International Typographical Union for the fiscal year ending with May, 1911, is now in circulation.

The International Typographical Union has for years conducted a health campaign from its international headquarters, and working through local committees. In his report this year President Lynch has this to say as to the progress of the campaign:

"Your president has continued the agitation during the past year for better sanitary conditions in the workrooms where our members are compelled to labor. We have also continued the distribution of the tuberculosis pamphlet. As to sanitation and other workroom conditions, our local unions should continue to give these subjects attention. With the movement against filthy and non-ventilated composing rooms there will be entire sympathy on the part of the general public, and no employer can afford to resist the demand for a change in working conditions that will guarantee health and comfort. As a matter of fact, well ventilated and scientifically arranged composing rooms are as good an investment as is the latest improvement in typesetting machinery, or the newest and most up-to-date faces in type. The worker who is in good health and who is working amid pleasant surrounnings is the best kind of a worker, for both mentally and physically he is equipped to produce the best that his art knows. Good printing means additional patronage for the printing office, and to a very great extent good printing requires artistic typesetting.

"All of our local unions should have health committees, and these committees should be untiring in their efforts to improve conditions and other features in composing rooms requiring betterment. Whenever a condition exists that requires improvement, if the employer fails to make the improvement on request of the health committee, then the bad condition should be called to the attention of the local board of health, and if the local board of health refuses to act, agitation should be started through the central body, through pamphlets circulated liberally, and through the withdrawal of our members from employment in the composing room of the offending proprietor, if this last radical step is an absolute necessity.

"As I have repeatedly asserted, a higher wage scale is of no benefit to a member if the conditions under which he works make for the propagation of disease and early death. The family might better retain the provider and protector under a low wage scale than enjoy the fruits of a high wage scale for only a limited period, and then when husband and father is removed become objects of the charity of the public, or of the union, or of fraternal societies."

President Lynch also touches on the great white plague, and says that:

"Scientific research has proven that there is no known medicine that will cure consumption, and that it is a waste of time and money to use so-called 'consumption cures.' All advertised cures of this nature are frauds. Doctors who advertise should be avoided as much as medicines which are advertised. Reputable doctors do not advertise. When a person learns that he has consumption he should go at once to a physician or dispensary and do as he is advised. He should not waste time and money on patent medicines. Advertised cures and advertising doctors are all worthless. This is the advice given by one of the most eminent physicians. Over $15,000,000 annually is poured into the coffers of those who exploit and advertise fake consumption cures, according to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis; and for this vast sum the victims receive nothing in return, but are often permanently injured, and, in the majority of cases, cheated out of the chance for a real cure. Sanitary workrooms and an abundance of fresh air at all times are the best preventives. These admonitions are being constantly proclaimed by the International Typographical Union through its traveling tuberculosis exhibit, its sanatorium at the Union Printers' Home, and by the annual distribution of thousands of pieces of literature."

To Cultivate Memory.

The best way to remember a thing is thoroughly to understand it, and often to recall it to mind. By reading continually with great attention, and never passing a passage without understanding and considering it well, the memory will be stored with knowledge, and things will recur at times when we want them, though we can never recollect the passages or from whence we draw our ideas.

SIMPLY SUGGESTIVE

(By T. W. C.)

In a recent exchange I found this sentiment: "There is no bank account that can balance a sweet, gracfous personality; no material wealth can match a sunny heart; an ability to radiate helpfulness and sweetness." A touching sentiment and it is such a pity that we all do not recognize its truth. In this life of constant strain a sunny heart is really the most delightful companionship.

* * *

Have you noticed how many of the people whom you meet in a day seem to have so little sunnyness in their disposition? Mayoe I am mistaken but it seems to me that it is true. So many of us are complainers by nature. Just at this time it is dry—there is talk of drought all about us. Farmers and merchants are dreading the possible failure of the crops and then there is the scarcity of water for the every day need and taking it all together there is dissatisfaction in the heart—dissatisfaction with the surrounding conditions. This brings complaining and worry and there is little smiling as we meet people. Suppose it does not rain—suppose it does result in an absolute crop failure, suppose we do suffer—meet the failure with a smile. It will help you to go on your way.

* * *

I suppose that I am wrong but the present drought conditions has put me to thinking and thinking strongly. I do not desire to get into an argument with the preachers. When I was a boy I was always afraid of preachers and I confess that as I have grown older some of the fear has passed away—but not all of it. The preacher has always the best of you. He can answer you in the pulpit and you have no chance. I do not mean to criticise them for they get more than their share of that from other people and after all they are but men and very human. Getting back to the thought however—this drought has put me to thinking. It is so sad that people think so little of God until they get into trouble. Cities are waterless and cities call on God! Let me suggest that it would be so much better if we did some praying when the conditions were normal. Do not misunderstand me—I believe in prayer. I believe that God will hear and answer prayer. I merely mean to remind myself and you that it is hardly right to go on in our way with no municipal prayer service in good days, when the skies are clear and the conditions happy and then when gloom and danger comes fly to God for help. I think that occasionally the city as a city should come together and pray—in thankfulness and gratitude—for blessings received. Then when the distress comes it would be so much easier to go to God with a believing heart.

* * *

In this country for many years there has been an annual custom—a regular appointed day for thanksgiving and prayer and the people are urged by the leaders to meet in their houses of worship and offer praise to God. I have noticed that in recent years the people often fail to meet—a few go but not many. It has been a prosperous generation. Crops are usually good and prices of products encouraging and the people are happy. They forget God. In fact, it has actually come to be the custom in many sections for only one little meeting to be held on the thanksgiving day and the attendance at that one meeting is so slimly attended that it is almost a joke—a sad joke. But let danger come—ruin seems to be just in future and the people hasten to call on God for help. Human nature, you say? Yes, that is so but it is not right, at least not to my notion.

* * *

Just now I took occasion to make some remarks about preachers. Incidentally, of course. I am reminded of a young girl who had enjoyed the acquaintance of some preachers in her short life and she too was afraid of them. She told me that they were all so "long-faced" and somehow she was always uneasy in their presence. In fact, she always felt just the same way when she was in the neighborhood of an undertaker. I had never thought of it just that way—but it was not a bad comparison. Why is it that so many preachers impress people that way? I wonder if it is taught them in the seminaries? The preacher should be the happiest fellow in the world—he has the happiest message and should always carry it with a smile.

* * *

The other day I met a man and he was complaining at the "funny paper" issued as a supplement with so many Sunday newspapers. He talked a "blue streak" and I just listened. When he finished, I could not help telling him that the "funny sheet" had more to do with leading me to a change of disposition than any other agency. For many moons I followed the experiences of "Gloomy Gus" until it 'got on my nerves" and I made up my mind that in the future I would be different. Sometimes there are features in the "funny sheet" that I do not admire, but then for that matter, sometimes I see sights on the street that I turn from with a little feeling of near-disgust.

WHITES AND COLORED.

Their Relations in Little Rock, Ark., Extremely Cordial.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 12.—The good relations existing between the white and colored people of the South and the desire of the white people to assist the negroes in any worthy endeavor, was demonstrated in the action of the Chamber of Commerce of this place in giving assistance to the colored people in their preparations for entertainment of the National Negro Business League, which meets in this city August 16th, 17th, and 18th.

Prominent negroes of the city contributed large sums for the entertainment of the Confederate veterans, and in turn the Chamber of Commerce contributed $500 in cash for the entertainment of the League and provided the beautiful Kempner Theatre for the meeting place. Individual business men among the whites have contributed another $500. Negroes all over the State have raised nearly $4,000 for the entertainment of the League and the result will be the best local entertainment the League has yet had.

The National Negro Business League brings to this typical Southern centre some of the most prominent and successful negroes in the country, and a delegation of about 3,000 is expected. The central figure will be Booker T. Washington, the founder and president of the League. The purpose of the organization is to inspire negroes to the establishment of commercial enterprises, to promote and encourage a more intelligent labor, and to maintain friendly relations in the South.

One of the principal addresses will be delivered by Governor Donaghey. J. E. Bush, receiver of public monies; Scipioa Jones, a prominent negro lawyer, and J. A. Hibbler, of Arkansas Baptist College, head the local committees.

Home-Made Barometer.

Those who like experimentation may try the following method of making a cheap barometer, practiced in France.

Take 8 grams of pulverized camphor, 4 grams of pulverized nitrate of potassium, 2 grams of pulverized nitrate of ammonia, and dissolve in 60 grams of alcohol. Put the whole in a long slender bottle closed at the top with a piece of bladder containing a pinhole to admit the air.

When rain is coming the solid particles will tend gradually to mount, little star crystals forming in the liquid, which otherwise remains clear; if high winds are approaching the liquid will become thick, as if fermenting, while a film of solid particles forms on the surface; during fair weather the liquid will remain clear and the solid particles will rest at the bottom.

Evils Have Root in Idleness.

Idleness is the root of many evils. The idleness which preys upon the money-making power of another and forces it to dishonesty, is the criminal in the case.

Feet So Sore Couldn't Walk Down Stairs—

TIZ Cured Her Quick.

If you have sore feet; tired feet, sweaty feet, lame feet, tender feet, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions, read what happened to Mrs. Crockett, of Jeffersonville. TIZ DID IT. Mr. Crockett says: "After the second treatment she walked downstairs one foot at a time. She has not been able to walk downstairs before in past five years, except by stepping down on each step with one foot at a time. This is remarkable. Send five more boxes."

No matter what ails your feet or what under heaven you have used without getting relief, just use TIZ. It's different. It acts right off. It cures sore feet to stay cured. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. You will feel better the first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25c per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

rection of the existing state of affairs. Whether it was the Washington heat or a desire to disguise himself which led former Governor Hughes to part with most of his beard remains to be seen. Some persons were so unkind as to hint that he had placed it in cold storage.

What will undoubtedly be the largest bathtub in the world is soon to be constructed here. It will not be built however, to satisfy the whim of some multi-millionaires, but to afford the two elephants at the Central Park Zoo an opportunity to perform their daily ablutions in the orthodox way. While the elephant may not appear to the casual observer as a model of cleanliness he is nevertheless extremely particular as to his baths, insisting on at least one a day. For many years Hattie and Jewel, the two Central Park pacyderms, have been by reason of necessity members of the shower bath cult receiving their daily from a common garden hose operated by "Bill" Snyder, the head keeper. The method was inadequate at best and during all these years "Bill" has never ceased to beg for a real bath tub for his pets. Now that his request has been granted New York will soon enjoy the unique spectacle of the elephants bathing in their own private tub. "Bill" who insists that his pets understand everything he tells them, broke the good news to them without delay, whereupon according to his statement, they trumpeted for joy.

A new record for ocean travel, or for that matter for travel of any kind, so far as human beings are concerned, has just been made here by the pursee of one of the ranscontinental liners plying regularly between this port and Europe, who has just completed his thousandth trip across the Atlantic. These thousand trips represent about 3,500,000 miles of travel far surpassing any other achievement of the sort of which any record can be found. The thousand trips are equal to 140 trips around the earth or fifteen to the moon. Of course, not all these trips were made on the same vessel, nor was their accomplishment a quick one, since the purser in question has been traveling the Atlantic since 1864 or for nearly half a century. His first trip was of a nature to discourage any but the most enthusiastic lover of the sea, since it was made on a steamship which took fire on its way to this country and was only saved after all hope had been abandoned. Altogether it is likely that it will be long before this 3,500,000-mile record will be beaten, even with the greatly increased speed of the present day liners.

CONFEDERATES IN CONGRESS

(Los Angeles Times.)

Fifty years after the first guns of the Civil War sounded the Congress of the United States is comparatively in control of the Confederates, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Herald. If the battle roll of the House and Senate were called today it would show more Confederate veterans in each branch of Congress than survivors of the armies of the blue.

There are veterans of many battles and survivors of many trying situations. In the Senate there are six of these Confederate warriors; three of them—Senator Bacon, of Georgia, and Senators Johnston and Bankhead, of Alabama—were captains in the Southern ranks; the others, Senators Martin of Virginia, Thornton of Lousiana, and Tillman, of South Carolina, fought either as privates in the regular army or as members of cadet corps that were enrolled for active service.

In the present House of Representatives there were eight Confederates, including Brig.-Gen. George W. Gordon, of Tennessee, Maj. Charles M. Stedman, of North Carolina, Capt. Jno. Lamb, of Virginia, and William Richardson, of Alabama. The other Confederates include Representatives Talbott, of Maryland, Rucker of Colorado, Taylor, of Alabama, and Estopinal, of Louisiana.

The only Confederate general in Congress is Representative George Washington Gordon, of Tennessee. At the recent Confederate reunion at little Rock, Ark., Gen. Gordon was a prominent figure. His history is a striking one. He was captured taree times, desperately wounded several times, was in every important battle participated in by the Tennessee troops and was finally taken prisoner and removed to Fort Warren, Mass., where he was held until three months after the war was concluded.

Two men in the House of Representatives—Capt. John Lamb, of Virginia, and Major Charles M. Stedman, of North Carolina—were with the 1,200 Confederates who fought the battle of Bethel, the first battle of the war, and were still fighting with the army of North Virginia when Lee laid down his arms at Appomattox April 9, 1865. The records show that only twelve men enjoyed this distinction.

Atterson W. Rucker, now a Representative from Colorado, went through a trying prison experience as a fifteen-year-old boy. He enlisted from Missouri with the Confederate forces. He was with Price at the battle of Lexington and figured in the long running fight under Shelby and Marmaduke from the Missouri river to the South.

Senator Martin, of Virginia, like Senator Johnson, went into the army as a boy member of a military school brigade. Senator Martin was 17 years old and a student at the Virginia Military Institute when he was enrolled with the students of that school as a private in the Confederate army. He served throughout the last year of the war until Lee laid down his arms in April, 1865.

Thirty Years Together

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guess work in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequalled for lagrippe, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c., $1. INVENTION OF CHANCE

BAYONET DEVISED BY TROOPS WHO HAD NO AMMUNITION.

How Argand Invented His Lamp and Galileo the Telescope With Accidental Assistance—Discovery of Lithography.

The bayonet is said to have derived its name from the fact that it was first made at Bayonne, and its origin illustrates the proverb, "Necessity is the mother of invention."

A Basque regiment was hard pressed by the enemy on a mountain ridge near Bayonne. One of the soldiers suggested that as their ammunition was exhausted, they should fix their long knives into the barrels of their muskets. The suggestion was acted upon. The first bayonet charge was made, and the victory of the Basques led to the manufacture of the weapon at Bayonne, and its adoption into the armies of Europe.

Not infrequently an invention has been suggested by some trivial event which would have passed unnoticed had not a man with eyes and brains seen it.

Argand, a poor Swiss, invented a lamp with a wick fitted into a hollow cylinder up which a current of air was allowed to pass, thus giving a supply of oxygen to the interior as well as to the exterior of the circular frame.

At first Argand used the lamp without any chimney. One day he was busy in his workroom and sitting before the burning lamp. His little brother was amusing himself by placing a bottomless oil flask over different articles. Presently he placed it upon the flame of the lamp, which instantly shot up the long, circular neck of the flask with increased brilliancy. It did more, for it flashed into Argand's mind the idea of the lamp chimney, by which his invention was perfected.

One day the children of a Dutch spectacle maker were playing with some of their father's glasses before the door of his shop. Setting two of the largest glasses together they peeped through them and were surprised to see the weather cock of the opposite church brought close to their eyes. They called their father to see the strange sight. He looked through the glasses and what he saw suggested to him the possibility of constructing a curious toy.

Galileo, hearing of the toy which made distant things appear close at hand, saw at once what a valuable help it would be in studying the heavens. He set to work, and soon made the telescope.

An accident helped Senefelder to invent lithography. He was a sort of Jack-of-all trades, a writer of verses and comedies, an actor, a fiddler, a painter, an engraver and a printer.

He worked at etching on copper, but the coppersmith refused to let him have any more plates unless he paid cash for them. He then tried to utilize the old plates by rubbing off the etchings with a soft limestone.

At last the copper became useless through many rubbings, and he tried etching on the stone, a plan that did not work very well. One day, while he was polishing off a stone which he intended to etch, his mother asked him to write out a list of the linen which the laundress was waiting to carry off. Not finding a slip of paper or a drop of ink, Senefelder wrote the list on the stone with printing ink prepared from wax, soap and lampblack, intending to copy it at his leisure.

A few days later, when he was about to wipe the writing from the stone, he thought he would learn what would be the effect of writing with the prepared ink on the stone, if it should be bitten in with aquafortis. He bit away to about the hundredth part of an inch, charged the lines with the ink, took several impressions of the writing and discovered that he had invented the art of lithography. —Harper's Weekly.

Married Happily but Not Well.

"What do you think?" she cried, "Edith Reddin's cousin, that pretty one that was here last summer, has gone off and married a college professor and the family are awfully upset!"

"Gracious!" exclaimed Miss Olcott.

"What was wrong with him?" John inquired.

"Why, a professor, you know!"

"What—um—what did her family do?" asked Kate.

"Do! You can imagine! Why, she could have married—well, a duke, I guess."

"What—er—what did her friends do?" asked John.

"Why, well, you know, she's dropped out, just naturally, herself."

"Is she happy?" came from Kate.

"They say so. Oh, I guess she's married happily enough, but not well."—From "Thieves," by "Aix."

An Odd Instance.

"Vessels are paradoxical sort of things."

"How so?"

"They'll cut the water when they want to make a fast knot."

Something Wrong.

"I think this indictment must be defective," declared the judge.

"Why?" inquired the assistant district attorney.

"Seems to make sense."

UNION PRINTERS HOME

Further Development Advocated Advocated by Printers' International President.

The volume containing the reports of the officers of the International Typographical Union for the fiscal year ending with May, of 1911, is just from the press. President Lynch has this to say as to the Union Printers Home—that magnificent institution at Colorado Springs erected and maintained by the International Typographical Union:

Reference to the report of the board of trustees of the Union Printers Home will make clear the nature of the improvements that have been made by the institution during the fiscal year. The partial completion of the library addition by the erection of the two additional stories, not including the interior finish, runs over the fiscal year and well into July. The boiler house was considerably enlarged, two new boilers installed, and commodious, sanitary and pleasant quarters provided for the male employes in the second story of the heating plant and laundry building, and other necessary improvements, made in this connection. The library annex has been completed, with the exception of finishing the interior of the upper stories. The total amount expended for the improvements mentioned has been about $25,000. A beautiful and adequate institution has been further improved, and in every way an effort has been made to comply with the intention of the membership in establishing the Union Printers Home so that it shall be a haven of rest and cure for our aged members and those afflicted with disease. A barren hillside has been converted into a garden spot, than which there is none more beautiful in this country.

The time has arrived, however, when the future of the Union Printers Home must be taken into more careful consideration. The old age pension policy adopted by the International Typographical Union, and successful beyond our fondest hopes, has within the past year affected the Union Printers Home in that our aged members are not seeking the Home's bounty in the same degree that was true prior to the establishment of the old age pension. Our older members prefer to draw the pension and remain at hime, with their friends and relatives. They are not now a burden on their kin, and, in many instances, securing and accepting light employment, they are self-supporting. Eventually, in my judgment, the old age pension will depopulate the main building of the Home, which heretofore has been used for the housing of the older residents. I believe that the Home has a new and greater career before it, and that it should and will be converted into a printers' sanitarium where all the members of the International Typographical Union afflicted with disease of whatever nature may find a home and a possible cure. Indeed, I would go further than this and establish an institution where our members who are exhausted and run down by the strenuous requirements of the composing room of today may resort for a month or two months or six months in order to build up a shattered nervous and physical system so that they may continue at their trade, useful members of society and supporters of families. Those who are blessed with sufficient of this world's goods yearly seek watering places and Summer resorts in order that there may be recuperation of energy and ambition to meet the coming ordeals of the social season or business world. Why not, then, the Union Printers Home, converted into a great sanitorium and rest-cure, where our enervated members may find that surcease from toil and worriment that will instill into their systems energy and ambition, and add to their years of usefulness. If this project is ever made effective, then there will of necessity have to be an increase in the per capita for the support of the Home, for it is a well-established fact that the patients at the Home cost much more to maintain than the aged and indigent residents. Under the plan as outlined, the Home fund should bear the traveling expense of the patient to and from the institution. But, whatever the cost, the venture will be well worth undertaking, and will further redound to the glory and public laudation of the International Typographical Union. That we will be compelled to face a new problem as to the Home is, I believe, amply demonstrated by the facts that I have set forth. In the very near future the number of aged residents will be reduced to a very few. Even with the changed policy suggested we can still care for such of the aged and superannuated as may prefer the Home to the pension. At this writing, there are a number of vacancies in the main building, while the sanatorium is nearly filled. The Union Printers Home has been a great institution, and I predict will be a still greater institution, if it is developed along the line that I have indicated.

THE PRICE OF CATTLE

Difference Between Beef "On Foot" and Dressed Product.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

San Antonio, Texas, Aug. 12.—Ed. C. Lasater, president of the Cattle Raisers Association of Texas, is determined to ascertain the cause of the great discrepency existing between the price of cattle on foot and that of beef when it is placed on the block of the butcher ready to be served to the consumers, and for this purpose has called a meeting of the cattlemen, and everyone interested in a square deal to assemble in Forth Worth, September 12-13. Discussing this meeting and what is hoped to be accomplished by it Mr. Lasater said: "The remedial agencies for existing conditions, an effort to bring order out of chaos in supplying the market needs, together with a look at the sumoin as it travels its tortuous course from the producef that consumer will come in for consideration. We recognize the packing houses as necessities, but we recognize the plan that has been in vogue so long of sending cattle and depending on the buyer to take care of us is of archaic construction. There has been crimination and recrimination among packers and retail meat dealers as to which of them is responible for the high price of meat, and we would know more of the real facts if we can obtain the knowledge of honorable means. While every member of the Cattle Raisers Association of Texas, the officials and members of the American Live Stock Association and the prominent members of the Farmers' Union will be on hand next month, I consider that the matter to be brought up for discussion is none the less important to every consumer in the State, and have therefore requested the commercial bodies of the State, the officials of labor organizations and the mayors of the cities to send delegates, as they will represent the consuming element of our population. The consumer is the producers' dependence for a livelihood, but of late years, and especially this year, the consumer is paying more for his meat, and the producer is getting less for it, than at any time in history when the expense of raising beef is considered. I cannot foretell what will be the result of this meeting, but at least indulge the hope that good will come out of it."

Keep Baby Healthy in Summer

It is easier to keep some children in health in winter than in summer. And yet it is very important that the child should be strong and well during the hot weather. In the first place, a very little ill is liable to develop into a large one in summer because of the germs in milk, water and many kinds of food. You should be especially careful not to allow your children to become irregular in their stools during the heated term. The best relief you can give it, and the surest permanent cure, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the guaranteed laxative-tonic. It is exactly suited to the needs of children because it is gentle and mild in action, absolutely pure and free from narcotics, pleasant to take, and yet does its work promptly and efficiently. Thousands of mothers keep it constantly in the house against emergencies, and as a bottle costs only 50 cents or $1.00, and can be conveniently obtained of any druggist, no family should be without it. If you are one who has never tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and would like to do so before buying it in the regular way, you can obtain a FREE BOTTLE by sending your address to

Treasures in Chicago University.

The University of Chicago possesses the Oxyrhynchus fragment of the Gospel of Mark, found ten years ago, which dates back to the fifth century. It has also the first Greek New Testament given to the world, issued by Erasmus in 1516; also the first one printed, the Complutensian Polyglot, which came from a Spanish press in 1514, but was suppressed until 1521.
